POLO ENTHUSIASM REACHES PITTSBURGH

From Left to Right—H. N. Van Voorhis, G. M. Laughlin, Jr., Percy E. Donner and C. W. Hanford.

F. A. Savage, professional whip at Pittsburgh Country Club; C. W. Hanford coming up.

PITTSBURGH NOW THE "POLO CITY"

Ponies Are Arriving and the Aristocratic Sport Will Soon Be in Full Swing.

PRACTICE HAS ALREADY BEGUN

Pittsburgh, the Polo City.

No longer will the metropolis at the headwaters of the Ohio be known as the Smoky City or Steel City, or by any other slanderous or commercial synonym. Hereafter it will be of sports, sporty, for has it not all the recognized indoor and outdoor recreations, including bridge whist, golf and fox hunting? And now it has polo!

Already six polo ponies are stabled at the Pittsburgh Country club. Three of these are owned by D. C. Byers, E. M. Byers and H. N. VanVoorhes. The other three belong to the club. Seven more ponies will be received this week. Among others going in for polo are Edward Groetzinger, Palmer Collins, Hayden Collins, C. J. Mesta, Percy E. Donner, C. W. Hanford, G. M. Laughlin, Jr., Charles E. Speer, A. R. Hamilton and Grant McKinney.

The club is converting the now abandoned golf course at Nine-Mile run into a polo field and steeplechase course. A race meet will be held on Thanksgiving day. There will be two pony races for gentlemen riders, one flat open race, a steeplechase for gentlemen riders and an open steeplechase. The creek running through the grounds will be used as a water jump. Five cups will be offered. A. R. Hamilton, W. H. Keech and A. M. Jenkinson have come forward already as donors of three of them.

Days for Polo Practice.

Polo will soon be in full blast at the club. Preliminary practice is indulged in on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and when adequate skill is acquired in the use of the mallet and finding the ball with it at full gallop, a polo field will be laid out.

Last Tuesday and Saturday those who are going in for the sport were out for practice and some lively scrimmages took place. At the outset it was about as difficult to light on the elusive ball as it is for the beginner at golf. Oh! it looks so easy, but is surprisingly difficult. The little ponies were mute critics of the tyro essays. They seemed astounded at the inexperienced efforts, and all at sea at the awkward attempts. Like caddies on the golf course, they knew a heap which they were not privileged to make known.

Professional Whip and Instructor.

There can be no question but that the sport will have tremendous vogue here when fairly under way. With the many hard riders in the city to take up the game, all it wants is practice to develop crack polo players. Skill in the saddle has shown itself at the hunts of Harkaway Hunt, when every man rode his line and took everything going.

F. A. Savage, professional whip and riding instructor at the club, has taken the beginners in hand and is delighted with the prospects. It is expected by next spring that the Allegheny Country club will have a polo team, too, and matches will be arranged between the clubs. It is the purpose also next year to enter in the polo tournaments in the east.

PROBABLY THREE DEAD.

Engineer and Detective Killed in Erie Wreck, and Fireman is Thought to Be Under Engine.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 24.—An Erie train, eastbound, was wrecked in a collision with an engine, about a quarter of a mile east of Susquehanna, Pa., tonight.

Frank Robbins of Susquehanna, engineer of the wrecked train, was killed, and his fireman, O'Rourke of Susquehanna, is thought to be under the engine. An Erie detective named Samuel C. Hemstead of Clark Summit, Pa., was fatally injured by being thrown from the baggage car.

SEE ATHLETICS IN SEOUL.

Miss Alice Roosevelt and Party Witness Exhibition of Sports by Korean School Boys.

SEOUL, Sept. 24.—Miss Alice Roosevelt and party today attended the athletic sports of Korean school boys. The party was received by the Japanese educational committee. The entire party is now resting after the strenuous weeks spent in Japan, Manila and China.

The visit is largely losing an official character and the party will spend some time at picnicking and riding in the hills of Seoul and vicinity.

Chinese Minister Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Wang Tai Shei, first secretary of the Chinese legation, has been designated as Chinese minister to the court of Great Britain.

GOV. CUMMINS OF IOWA IS FOR TARIFF REVISION

Declares People of His State Are Not Standpatters—Approves Roosevelt's Course.

"I am in favor of revision of the tariff, and so is everybody else in Iowa," said Gov. Albert B. Cummins of the Hawkeye state, at the Union station last night. "There are no 'standpatters' there; they are all in Pennsylvania, particularly in Pittsburgh. The tariff is too high in several respects, particularly in the iron, steel and lumber schedules. There the tariff hits particularly the Iowa farmers, for out of steel and iron farming implements are made, and as ours is largely a prairie state, you can realize how important lumber is to our people.

"I am in favor of President Roosevelt's stand in favor of the regulation of railroad rates. There is much to be said in advocacy of that proposition. In Iowa the railroad rates hit the farmer again. Our farmers have to send their cattle to Chicago on the hoof, to be butchered there. They can't establish a meat packing industry, for railroad rates are so high on dressed meat that they cannot possibly compete with the Chicago packers in the market."

The governor went east last night, after having revisited the scenes of his boyhood. The governor was born and reared at Carmichael, Pa., and went to Iowa with his father when he was a boy. The father is still a hale, vigorous man, and as he desired to visit the country in which his family was among the pioneer settlers, the governor accompanied him. It is 36 years since father and son left. Gov. Cummins will return in a few days and go back to Iowa with his father.

College Lecturer Found Dead.

WEST OSSIPEE, N. H., Sept. 24.—Dr. James R. Chadwick of Boston, a lecturer at Harvard college, was found dead early today just outside his summer residence at Chocorua, N. H., seven miles from here, by one of his servants. It is supposed he fell from the plazza roof of his cottage during the night.

EX-MAYOR CAROTHERS IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Dies from Heart Disease At McKeesport Home—Candidate to Succeed Falkenstein.

Ex-Mayor R. T. Carothers of McKeesport died suddenly yesterday. Death was due to heart failure, from which he had been a sufferer for two years. He was prominently mentioned as a candidate for mayor to succeed Mayor Falkenstein, and his death will affect the candidacies of others in the field.

Mr. Carothers was born in Westmoreland county in 1848, and went to McKeesport in 1882. He was appointed mayor by the McKeesport councils in 1896 to succeed the late James Z. Andre. In 1897 he was elected to that office for a term of three years.

Ex-Mayor R. T. Carothers.

Mr. Carothers was married to Miss Carrie F. Onions, who survives him, in 1892. During the greater part of his residence in McKeesport he had been actively engaged in political work, being a Republican leader.

BULL FIGHT AUDIENCE BREAKS UP FURNITURE

NIMES, FRANCE, Sept. 24.—Twelve thousand spectators of a bull fight here today broke up the chairs, other seats and the boxes and set fire to the barriers surrounding the arena because the matadors refused to kill another bull as an encore after they had dispatched five.

PAYROLL GETS ORDERS TO DENY MAYOR GAVE WOMEN THE HA! HA!

Instructions Read, "Just Say 'Buck' Wallace Might Have Said It"—Scheme to Prevent Many People from Voting.

Word is being sent out to the city payroll to deny that Mayor W. B. Hays said:

"Ha, ha, ha! That's the funniest thing I have ever heard. Any person who tries to investigate the immorality of people will have a big job. It's a joke. The women who say they are going to investigate immorality have not come to me or written me. It is really the funniest thing I have ever heard."

The above is a quotation from the mayor when he was interviewed concerning the intention of a committee representing the Women's Missionary union of Allegheny county to inquire into the morals of the Pittsburgh police force.

When Hays' police superintendent, "Buck" Wallace, was told what the mayor had said, he remarked: "I suppose I have a laugh coming also, I wonder who is chaperoning them. I shall tell them a few interesting things," and then he laughed heartily.

The Citizens bosses have found it is not a laughing matter and they want to create the impression that the mayor, at least, did not [illegible] the women the "Ha, Ha!" Notice [illegible] being given to the Citizens party [illegible] and chairmen yesterday to have the payroll deny that Mayor Hays made fun of the women.

A lieutenant who was handing out the information couched the orders in this language:

"Deny that Mayor Hays gave the 'Ha Ha!' to the women who are investigating the morals of the police. Just say 'Buck' Wallace might have said it. Our papers have agreed to help us out. We must do the rest. Our city chairman says to deny everything and our papers will back us to the end."

In addition to the orders to clear the skirts of the mayor, these instructions were given to the faithful:

"Get tax orders from all you know who are against us. Hold the orders and challenge the men if they attempt to vote on election day."

JAMES M. GUFFEY HAS A BIG JOB TO TACKLE TODAY

He Will Try to Prevent Citizens from Naming Plummer.

BIGELOW SAYS HE WILL WIN CONTEST

Controller Larkin and A. J. Barr Expected to Vote Against the National Committeeman.

MEN STICK WITH COLONEL

If William H. Berry Cannot be Placed on the Ticket, Effort Will be Made to Have Citizens Not Name Any One for State Treasurer.

The ability of Col. James M. Guffey, Democratic national committeeman, to prevent the Citizens from indorsing the candidacy of J. Lee Plummer, Republican candidate for state treasurer, will today be put to the test. It is up to the colonel to either have William H. Berry, the Prohibition-Democratic nominee, placed at the head of the Citizens party ticket or have that party decline to make any nomination for state treasurer.

Director E. M. Bigelow announces Plummer will be named. He is said to have the support of two of the five Democratic conferees, A. J. Barr and Controller John B. Larkin. This leaves Col. Guffey, William J. Brennen and James A. Clark standing together. Larkin has shown that he will be found with Bigelow by a statement he issued last night. In brief, he says the Citizens should have the right to decide the matter for themselves. He claims the Democrats have no right to dictate to the Citizens. Some time ago Bigelow, in speaking of Larkin, said:

"He is not an Orphan; he has been elected."

Guffey Has Big Job.

Col. Guffey has a hard job on his hands. So far he has failed to have his man Berry indorsed by the City party of Philadelphia. At present the prospects of his keeping Plummer off the Citizens ticket are not promising. To carry out the bluff that Berry has a show of winning, it is necessary to have him named by at least one of these pretending reform political parties. The Lincoln party is not considered much of an asset.

The fusion conference is scheduled for this morning. It will be the first joint conference which has been held. The Citizens have notified the Democrats that it is their intention to name Plummer. The Democrats have not given their answer, nor has there been an argument of the proposition. None of the Democrats who will object to the naming of Plummer would say how far they would go. It was impossible to get a definite answer to the question as to whether or not fusion would fail if the Citizens declined to accede to the requests of Col. Guffey.

No Objection to Candidates.

The Citizens have named Alexander Dempster for commissioner, C. G. Mentel for prothonotary and Henry Serena for director of the poor. The Democratic conferees say they will offer no objection to the nomination of these men.

The one proposition to be determined is what the Citizens will do about the state treasurership. The Democrats are prepared to make an argument in behalf of the nomination of Berry. They will contend it is a matter of principle. In answer to the claim of the Citizens that they will be debarred from the Republican primaries if they do not carry Plummer on their ticket, Mr. Brennen will make a legal argument showing his interpretation of the Republican rules. He will contend that if the Citizens nominate the Republican candidates for supreme and superior courts they will have kept within the rule. The rule says, "Any person who has voted the Republican ticket at the last preceeding national or state election." In Mr. Brenner's opinion this does not mean the "whole" ticket.

Democratic Compromise.

In case the Democrats fail to have Berry go on the ticket they will offer a compromise. The request will be made that the Citizens not make any nomination for state treasurer, but be content to carry the Republican judicial candidates. The same proposition has been made to the City party of Philadelphia.

The Citizens will also be asked to enter into negotiations with the Lincoln party. This organization will name Berry for state treasurer and there have been rumors it will indorse the Republican county ticket because of its high character. The Democrats want the Citizens to prevent this indorsement and if they cannot do any better, secure an agreement with the Lincoln party not to name any county ticket. What will be the outcome of these negotiations is difficult to predict.

The result will depend on how far Col. Guffey, W. J. Brennen and James A. Clark will go. Even if Barr and Larkin vote with the five Citizens conferees, Brennen, under the resolution authorizing the appointment of the Democratic conference committee, has two ways of blocking the plans of the Citizens. He has authority to add as many members as he sees fit to the conference committee or can reconvene the Democratic county convention and allow it to handle the whole proposition. Clark and Brennen are in absolute control of the delegates composing the convention. The situation is interesting.

BOMB EXPLODES IN PRIVATE CAR OF HIGH CHINESE OFFICIALS

WU TING FANG.

Four Persons Killed and Twenty Others Wounded, Including Former Minister Wu Ting Fang. The Assassin Is Blown to Pieces.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PEKIN, Sept. 24.—At the Pekin railway station today, as a train carrying one of the four missions ordered abroad to study foreign political methods was leaving, a bomb was exploded inside a private car, killing four minor officials and wounding over 20 other persons. The wounded include Prince E. Tsai Tcha, who heads the most important of the missions, and Wu Ting Fang, former minister to the United States, both of whom received slight injuries. The perpetrator of the outrage, who was in the car, was blown to pieces.

The affair has created a profound sensation and causes apprehension regarding the safety of members of the court and leading officials of the government. The government officers and the railroads are now strongly guarded.

The edict appointing the missions was issued July 16. The missions were appointed to study foreign systems of government. The dowager empress intended to issue a decree at the New Year for the establishment of a parliament 15 years hence.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Sir Chentung Liang Cheng, the Chinese minister here, tonight expressed his horror over the occurrence. He said: "There are two parties in China, the new reform party, which is desirous of having the people and government profit by the adoption of whatever is for the good in Occidental civilization, and the party that you call anarchists in this country. The late action in regard to the sending abroad of ministers has especially angered them."

WOMAN MAKES FICTION REAL

Young Wife Climbs Perilous Path to Rescue Her Husband.

MOUNTAIN TRAGEDY

[Special Telegram From L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.]

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Sept. 24.—The remains of Charles Fenton, an aged lawyer of Town No. 4, near Lowville, Lewis county, New York, were shipped from here this evening to his home. He died on Friday night while descending the trail of Whiteface mountain, the second highest peak of the Adirondacks, and his death was accompanied by the most tragic and sensational circumstances known in this region. Fenton was about 70 years of age and his wife was but 31. They had been guests at the Whiteface Inn, a large hotel located on the shores of Lake Placid and opposite Whiteface mountain. Climbing Whiteface is one of the favorite feats of visitors, and though the trail that leads up the steep slopes is difficult, it is not impossible to those who have muscle and endurance.

On Friday morning Mr. and Mrs. Fenton started to make the climb and despite the advanced years of the former, they reached the summit about noon and had their luncheon at the top. Whiteface is about 5,330 feet high and the trail is five miles in length. Owing to the rough places the descent is nearly as hard as the climb to the top. It was about 2:30 p. m. when Mr. and Mrs. Fenton started for the bottom and they traversed half the distance without accident, although Mr. Fenton felt the strain and was obliged to rest several times during the trip. When about half way down the mountain the aged man stopped suddenly, and, reeling, fell to the ground.

Help Was Miles Away.

His young wife was shocked at the incident and after a hasty examination of her husband, found that he was unconscious and concluded that he had fainted from exhaustion. She realized that medical assistance was several miles away and that she was the only means of bringing it.

Hastily divesting herself of her outer skirt she wrapped it about her husband and started down the trail for help. They had previously arranged that the launch from the hotel should meet them at the bottom of the mountain at 5 o'clock, and after a hard run she reached the lake to find the man waiting. Depatching him for a doctor she started up the trail again to her husband.

By this time the sun had set, and the great mountain was shrouded in darkness. For a short distance Mrs. Fenton was able to make out the lines of the path, but it was soon lost in the shadows and from that time on she was guided solely by her sense of feeling, and by some superhuman intuition that led her on. The rocks were wet and slippery in

MOB FATALLY WHIPS NEGRO

Drag Him to Torture from Jail in West Virginia Town.

NO ONE INTERFERES

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WILLIAMSON, W. VA., Sept. 24.—Praying open the doors of the city jail here this morning, an armed mob of whitecaps known as the "White Ribboners," took out Monte Lovern, a negro prisoner, and beat and whipped him until they inflicted injuries which will result in his death.

It was not generally known that the outrage had been committed until the city awoke this morning. The regular policemen for the public square was ill and through an oversight no substitute has been provided.

Lovern was serving a 60-day sentence in the jail for having assaulted James Butcher. Butcher was found lying on a street corner four days ago unconscious from a wound in the head. When he recovered he accused Lovern of being his assailant. The negro was arrested, tried before Mayor Pinson and sentenced.

Thursday night the mob attacked the jail, but their victim, hearing them approach, raised such an outcry he frightened the gang away. About 1 o'clock this morning while Lovern and Thomas Blackburn, the only other prisoner in the jail, were lying on their cots, masked men appeared at Blackburn's window and presenting a Winchester rifle through the bars, commanded Blackburn to keep silence on pain of death.

The mob then pried open the jail doors with crowbars. Rushing down the corridor to Lovern's cell, they tore open the door and dragged him out. Blackburn was bound and gagged, and, with the negro in the same condition, both men were taken and ferried across the river. The mob then took them up the opposite bank of Pond creek, where the negro's clothing was stripped from his back and the torture began. Blackburn was not molested.

The mob assailed Lovern from all sides with blacksnake whips, but early in the melee their vengeance was frustrated by someone striking the negro a heavy blow on the head with a stone. They kept pounding the man until he was covered with blood, then his bruised, unconscious body was dumped on a track and, walking Blackburn back with them, the crowd started for the jail. Lovern was thrown on his cot and his door shut. Blackburn was compelled to swear never to reveal what he had seen.

When the keeper went to the jail to take breakfast to the prisoners at 6 o'clock this morning he found the negro unconscious. Blackburn was in the corridor, almost paralyzed with fear. After promises of protection, Blackburn was induced to tell the story of the affair. He claims to have recognized eight men of the gang, for whom Prosecuting Attorney Shepherd has issued warrants.

SHADOWS FALL ON PATRIARCHS

Capt. Dravo and Judge Hice Are Near Death at Beaver.

OLD-TIME FRIENDS

Special Telegram From
JOHN P. COWAN, Staff Correspondent.

BEAVER, PA., Sept. 24.—Beaver's grand old man, Capt. John F. Dravo, and Judge Henry Hice, life-long friends and neighbors and co-workers in many public enterprises, are entering hand in hand into the valley of the shadows. While death's inexorable claim is momentarily expected, all the Beaver valley is cast in gloom, and prayers for the souls of the two beloved citizens today were received with many a devout "amen" from the lips of hundreds of worshipers in the local churches.

Down by the bank of the Ohio river, where an old-fashioned flower garden surrounds a picturesque country mansion, Capt. Dravo is stricken by a fatal malady. He can retain no solid food and only his heroic vitality has enabled him to continue so long his struggle for life. Only a few blocks away Judge Hice, suffering his second attack of paralysis, is near to death.

The mortal illness of the two men who were so prominently identified with the history of Beaver forms a singular coincidence in lives that have much in common. Both have devoted the best parts of their days in public-spirited enterprises in their native town. Both are men of whole-souled charity, of deep religious fervor and long have been steadfast friends of education.

Youth Blessed Two Men.

Both have been blessed with great vitality, and this blessing they have turned into the energies which brought success and moderate wealth. They are old only in years—in spirit they have always been boys. They are democratic, and, being democratic, they have the dignity which comes with the repose of careers well spent.

Capt. John Fleming Dravo will be 87 years of age next month. Sixty years ago he was one of the prominent coal operators in the Monongahela valley. At 25 he was a man of affairs, and as long ago as 1848 he was a candidate for the Pennsylvania legislature on the Free Soil ticket. When Lincoln was nominated for the presidency at Chicago, in 1860, Capt. Dravo sat in the memorable convention as one of the Pennsylvania delegates. He has stumped for every Republican presidential candidate.

He is a lay minister in the Methodist Episcopal church and held services regularly in the Dravo chapel in Industry. A natural orator, he added a classic to the literature of the eulogy by his address on the death of Gen. Grant. He has been president of the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce, of which he is a charter member. He served his district in the legislature and twice held the appointment of collector and surveyor of the port in this district.

Man Who Loves Flowers.

This is the man who only a few days ago looked out the window of his bedroom and took in the panorama of the broad expanse of the Ohio and the wooded hills beyond, and then smiled as his eyes fell on his flower garden, glorious in its luxury of autumn blooms. After all, he loves these best. He laid out that little park something like 20 years ago, and every season since it has received his undivided care. He always loved flowers, and now their perfume and radiant beauty cheer him with a subtle charm that only the flower-lover feels. They prolong the fading sunbeams in life's twilight.

Capt. Dravo for 40 years has risen at dawn and never failed while in good health to spend the morning in the garden with his hoe. He left his office in the coal exchange and usually arrived home during the middle of the afternoon and worked among his plants till dark.

"The reason I have lived so long," he has often remarked, "is because I have breathed the fogs twice a day during eight months in the year."

Captain Dravo is an ardent temperance worker. He has been largely responsible for maintenance of local option in Beaver. He says: "I'm a shouting Methodist." It is a homely expression, but then Captain Dravo all his life has been given to frank provincialisms that left no doubt as to the bluntness of his meaning. In prayer he believed in the "amen" being pronounced so that all could hear. When he said, "The Lord be praised!" there was no one in even the furthermost corner of the meetinghouse who could not hear.

Studies Darwinism.

His devotion to religion, however, has never been narrow-minded. In his library—and he has always been a faithful student—you will find works on Darwin and Huxley. If he had any hobbies outside of his flowers, it is in his study of the doctrines of evolution.

He attended Allegheny college, Meadville, but was not graduated. He taught school for a time, but put away the birch stock for the Bible and hymnbook on Sunday and Wednesday nights, and the littered desk in a coal office during the week. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. His "frat" days began late in life when he attended the big Phi meeting in Pittsburgh several years ago and was made an honorary member. From the eastern part of the state came a lot of new men who imagined that the captain had just come in from the dense backwoods. He had never been over fastidious about his dress and the strange fraternity men took him, as they said it, for a "rube."

The "rube frat" was asked to make a speech. The newcomers thought they would see a sorry exhibition of oratory. Capt. Dravo began with some humorous anecdotes and spoke with well-rounded, polished sentences. His resources and his vigorous gestures took the audience by storm. After that he was the most popular Phi in the convention.

How School Was Saved.

Capt. Dravo is the pillar of Beaver college and of the Beaver Methodist Episcopal church. When the old school was burned 18 years ago it was feared that it could not be rebuilt. While the ruins were still blazing, he called the trustees and the friends of the institution together, told them that the school should have a more prosperous career than ever and immediately started the project for rebuilding. He is president of the board of trustees of the institution, and likewise holds the same office in the Methodist church.

Judge Hice is 15 years the junior of Capt. Dravo. He was the first president judge in the new Thirty-sixth judicial district and was elevated to the bench in 1874 and served until 1895. He came into prominence in the legal world through his being retained counsel for the Harmony society and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, of which Capt. Dvavo was one of the incorporators.

He is a life trustee of Beaver college and a member of the trustees of the First Presbyterian church in Beaver. Both Judge Hice and Capt. Dravo are soothed in their last hours by the loving attention of devoted wives. Capt. and Mrs. Dravo two years ago celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary and personally entertained their guests. Late tonight Judge Hice rallied somewhat, but his condition is most critical.

places, but she kept on and on, regardless of the difficulties that confronted her.

Obstacles Thick and Fast.

The trail itself is nothing less than a drain for the mountain, it being the course that the water takes down the sides, and in many places it requires care even in broad daylight to pick one's way through the rocks and running water. Whiteface brook runs down the slopes and the trail crosses it four times. These crossings are made by foot-bridges of a single log and in walking over one of them Mrs. Fenton lost her balance and fell into the stream several feet below. Nothing daunted, she struggled to the opposite side and continued on her way.

By this time the wind had risen and a gale swept over the mountain. The moon was not yet up and the woods were in utter darkness. There was but one way to keep the trail under these circumstances and that was to creep along on the hands and knees, feeling the route inch by inch, and this was what Mrs. Fenton did. A great rocky chasm, 100 yards wide, was traversed in this fashion and on up the trail she crept, her only thought being to reach the side of her husband before it was too late. Her clothing was torn and the kid gloves that encased her hand were worn through from contact with the rough stones and logs. Over a corduroy road that in the light of day is well-nigh impassable, she made her way and finally fell exhausted at the side of her husband.

Men Went to the Rescue.

The launch engineer ran over to Brewsters Landing and gave the alarm soon after he received instructions from Mrs. Fenton. Dr. W. M. Warren and a party of four men started at once to the rescue, equipped with lanterns and heavily booted and cloaked. They had been told that Mr. Fenton lay at the "Shanty," a little old shelter house half way up the mountain side, and when they reached this point they were about to return, believing that a false alarm had been given, when a little further on they came across Mrs. Fenton's hat. Then they hurried forward and a few hundred yards up the path they came upon the prostrate man, his devoted wife sitting by his side.

A cursory examination by Dr. Warren showed that Fenton was dead. It is probable that he died as he fell and that heart failure from exertion was the cause. He lay directly in the path, just where he had fallen, his staring eyes glistening in the light of the lanterns and making a gruesome sight. His wife sat sobbing beside him, her hands lacerated, her hair blown loose by the gale and her clothing torn to shreds.

Strange Funeral Cortege.

It was clearly impossible to take the body down the mountain that night and a detail of two men was told off to keep watch until morning. Mrs. Fenton was led and carried down the mountain to the hotel, where she became unconscious and was placed under the care of a physician. Saturday morning eight men were sent to bear the body down the mountain and it required 16 relays of four men each to perform the task. The body was taken to Saranac Lake to be prepared for shipment to Lowville today.

Mrs. Fenton's thrilling feat of ascending the trail of Whiteface under what seemed impossible circumstances is the talk of the region today. One member of the rescue party was an old Adirondack guide who had been up the Whiteface trail more than 100 times, but he said he would under no circumstances undertake it at night. The obstacles that Mrs. Fenton surmounted are, in the light of day, almost superhuman. Her experience was the most thrilling known in the Adirondacks.

WILL TRY TO IMPEACH TESTIMONY OF M'CALL

Investigators Believe They Can Prove He Knew Hamilton Used New York Life Money for Lobbying.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Counsel for the legislative insurance investigating committee will busy themselves tomorrow gathering evidence which it is believed will prove that John A. McCall, president of the New York Life, could not have been ignorant of the work of Andrew Hamilton in looking after insurance legislation, not only in New York, but in several of the New England states.

It was stated today that Charles E. Hughes, chief counsel for the committee, within 24 hours will have within the jurisdiction of the legislative body a man who will testify to having knowledge of Hamilton's movements among the general agents of Connecticut, Massachusetts and Vermont, when money was collected to influence legislation in those states.

This witness will swear, it is said, that Hamilton always carried a letter from Mr. McCall, which he used as his credentials for approaching the agents on the subject of the legislative fund. It was also asserted the names of certain politicians who received money from this fund will be in the hands of the committee Tuesday.

Is Wounded at Christening.

Noticing a man with a bandaged head and another man about to board the South Twenty-second street incline last night, Policeman Thomas Byron arrested both. He sent the man with the bandaged head to the South Side hospital and the other to the police station. The injured man refused to give his name. He had been wounded in a fight at a christening in St. Clair township, and was being taken home by a friend, Michael Rockandevich, when taken into custody by the policeman.

ARMENIANS AND TARTARS SIGN PEACE AGREEMENT

Massacre and Pillage in the Caucasus May Be Suspended Until 1907.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BAKU, Sept. 24.—A conference of representatives of the Armenian and Tartars under the presidency of Prince Louis Napoleon, governor general of the Caucasus, has just been concluded, during which the principal conditions of an entente were agreed upon.

The conference decided to summon a general congress representing the inhabitants of the Caucasus to meet in October for the purpose of considering the causes of enmity existing between the Tartars and Armenians; resolved to urge upon the government the necessity of the adoption of prompt measures to ensure the safety of life and property, and arranged that Armenians and Tartars shall become mutually responsible for all material damage in the event of massacre or pillage by either side until January, 1907. Ten Armenians and 10 Mussulmans, all very wealthy, undertook to guarantee the strict observance of the agreement.

The conference also resolved to form an arbitration court to consist of five Armenians and five Tartars, which will draft the details of the agreement and remove any difficulties that may arise. The agreement will become effective October 14. A preliminary peace agreement between the Tartars and the Armenians was signed today.

MR. MEYER MAY BECOME SECRETARY OF THE NAVY

The American Ambassador to Russia a Probable Successor to Mr. Bonaparte.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—George Von L. Meyer, American ambassador to Russia, is being talked of as a probable successor to Charles J. Bonaparte as secretary of the navy. Mr. Bonaparte is slated to become attorney general next spring when William H. Moody returns to the practice of law in Massachusetts.

There was a time, soon after President Roosevelt entered the White House when he would have been pleased to see Mr. Meyer, then ambassador to Italy, step out. But Mr. Roosevelt's opinion of Mr. Meyer has changed upon better acquaintance. Mr. Meyer was an ardent supporter of Mr. Roosevelt for the Republican nomination last year and was a source of strength to the ticket in more ways than one. The president considers Mr. Meyer one of the best ambassadors in the diplomatic service and this opinion has been strengthened by the tactful and successful way in which Mr. Meyer assisted at St. Petersburg the president's effort in behalf of peace just after the battle of the Korean straits.

Being from Massachusetts, Mr. Meyer is in a geographical position favorable to selection as a cabinet officer, although Mr. Roosevelt has frequently declared that he would take all his cabinet members from a single state if he found the men there superior to those elsewhere. Mr. Moody's retirement will leave New England without representation in the cabinet.

MESSAGE WILL DEAL WITH LIFE INSURANCE

President Roosevelt Will Also Discuss Affairs in Venezuela and Santo Domingo.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 24.—President Roosevelt will complete his summer sojourn at Sagamore Hill and return to Washington next Saturday. The president is devoting considerable time each day now to work on his annual message to congress. For some time he has been assembling data for the message, but since the adjournment of the peace conference, he has been writing the data into definite form. The message will not be completed until some time early in November, because each member of the cabinet will have to supply material for discussion of the work of his department.

Three topics, highly important at this time to the American people, will be discussed by the president in his message. They are the federal regulation and supervision of life insurance, the relations between this country and Venezuela and America's interest in the fiscal affairs of the government of Santo Domingo. Other important subjects will be naturally considered, among them scandals disclosed in the departments of agriculture and the interior; the work of the department of justice in the beef trust cases; the regulation of railroad freight rates; the progress made in the construction of the Panama canal and the conclusion of peace between Russia and Japan.

Few visitors have been received since the adjournment of the peace conference, the president desiring to be as free as possible from interruption while working on his message.

M'LAUGHLIN GUILTY OF MURDER, SECOND DEGREE

Jury Returns Verdict Against Clinton Township Man Who Killed His Neighbor, W. J. Hemphill.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BUTLER, PA., Sept. 24.—Guilty of murder in the second degree was the verdict returned this afternoon by the jury in the case of John B. McLaughlin, indicted for killing William J. Hemphill. The prisoner was brought in by his cousin, Sheriff Gibson.

The crime of which McLaughlin has been convicted was committed on his farm in Clinton township last May. There had been bad blood between McLaughlin and Hemphill, his nearest neighbor. The men had had litigation about an old lease, and Hemphill had had McLaughlin arrested for shooting his chickens.

The morning of the murder, McLaughlin was in his field shooting Hemphill's chickens. Hemphill went across the road into McLaughlin's field and began driving out the remaining chickens. McLaughlin ordered him out three times and then shot at a distance of about 40 feet. The load struck Hemphill under the arm pit and tore a hole through his right lung. He died in a few minutes.

McLaughlin walked away from the wounded man without stopping to see how badly he was hurt, came to Butler and surrendered. Both men were prominent in their vicinity and were related to well-known Butler county families.

Hotel Safe Robbed.

KITTANNING, Sept. 24.—(Special.)—The safe of the Alexander hotel was robbed early this morning. The night clerk had left the office for a few moments when some one familiar with the combination opened the safe. The night porter, who had been secured through a Pittsburgh employment agency three days ago, disappeared at the same time. The amount of the loss is not stated.

ELEVEN ARRESTS WILL BE MADE

Government Charges Conspiracy to Violate the Contract Labor Law.

TILESETTERS ARE IMPORTED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—After eight months of careful preparation the United States district attorney of this district will tomorrow cause the arrest of 11 heads of the manufacturing and contracting concerns of this city, on warrants charging them with having conspired, through the medium of an employers' association to violate the contract labor law by the importation of foreign workmen. The penalty of conviction is a fine of not less than $1,000 nor more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than two years.

It is understood the department of commerce and labor is directing the prosecution. It has involved many months of investigation and also the keeping since January last of four English tilesetters at Ellis island. It is upon the evidence of these four men, backed by an array of corroborative depositions, that the government chiefly relies. The case hinges on the tilesetters strike of last year.

Fifty workmen, it is alleged, were imported to the United States at the instance of the 11 accused men, and were instructed to swear falsely when questioned at Ellis island. Two weeks after the men were imported, the lockout being a success, it is alleged, the accused caused the English workmen to be discharged, on the ground that they were not familiar with American tools or the method of working in this country, and were, therefore, useless.

Some of these men got home as best they could, but four of them carried their grievance to agents of the department of commerce and labor and rendered information on which an investigation was based. Since then they have been under detention at the immigrant station at Ellis island.

KOMMANDER ISLANDS SEIZED BY JAPANESE

Mikado's Flag Waves Over Territory Under Protection of United States and Britain.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 24.—News has been received here that the American steamer Montara, having on board Baron Bruggen, manager of the Kamtchatka Trading society, was seized by the Japanese near Nikolskoe, Bering island, and that the Japanese afterward occupied the Kommander islands and hoisted the Japanese flag. Neither the date of seizure of the vessel nor that of occupation of the islands is given.

The seizure of the Montara has already been chronicled, but there has been no mention of any occupation of the Kommander islands. Rear Admiral Kataoka reported to the Japanese imperial navy department August 26 as follows:

"The division dispatched to Kamchatka captured a number of Russians on board the American steamer Montara, off the port of Nikolaievsk, among them Commander Eakky."

Mr. Griscom, the American minister at Tokyo, September 4 notified the state department of the capture of the vessel, giving Nikolaievsk as the place and August 16 as the date. The vessel, the minister said, was taken to the Yokosuta naval station and the case was brought before the prize court at Yokohama, which had not rendered a decision at the time the report was filed.

Early in the war the governments of Great Britain and the United States entered into an agreement to protect the mails at the Kommander islands until the termination of hostilities. The Russian government consented to this arrangement.

GENERAL GOMEZ CALLS IT MURDER

Declares Killing of Villuendas at Cienfuegos, Cuba, Was Premeditated.

DEEPLY DEPLORED BY PALMA

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)

HAVANA, Sept. 24.—Senor Gomez was very reticent concerning the elections, but consented to say this:

I consider the killing of Villuendas was premeditated murder. It is maliciously invented to say that Villuendas had any dynamite or any arms of any description in his room or in his possession except a Colt revolver and 50 cartridges, with which he left Havana and which he had when he left me.

Many times, I am reliably informed, arms were stuffed before the polls were opened.

President Palma, commenting on the elections this evening, said:

The two parties laid their platforms before the Cuban people, and the majority have shown by the way they voted that they indorse the conservative aims of the Moderate party. If there was unfairness in the elections in any part of the island, it was not due to the government failing to take every possible precaution. The dreadful affair at Cienfuegos is to be deeply deplored.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The Cuban minister today received the following dispatches from his government:

The members of the executive bureau of the Liberal party at Cienfuegos have addressed a communication to the mayor, who is a Moderate, asking him to express their gratitude to the municipal authorities, police and custom house functionaries for the way their lives were protected during the occurrence Friday, which caused the death of the brave chief of police while doing his duty.

There has been no disturbance since the local one at Cienfuegos; there is perfect order throughout the republic and the government has ample means to guarantee it. The elections for the boards were held yesterday with strict legality and without any disorder. In almost all the boards the Moderates won.

POLICE QUELL RIOT IN A CHICAGO SYNAGOGUE

Denunciation of M. Witte from Audience Causes Trouble. Leaders Are Arrested.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—The police were called to quell a riot last night in the Russian synagogue, Clinton and Judd streets, where Adolph Kraus was addressing a Jewish meeting. Several persons received slight wounds, and 10 men and women were arrested. Mr. Kraus was giving an account of his interview with M. Witte, the Russian envoy at Portsmouth, at which he asked justice for the Jews through M. Witte's good offices.

"We may trust the word of M. Witte that he will do all in his power to ameliorate the sufferings of the Jews," Mr. Kraus was saying, when suddenly a member of a Jewish society sprang to his feet.

"Do you trust a Russian politician?" he shouted.

Before Mr. Kraus had time to answer there was a shout from several hundred men and women in the audience.

"Down with Witte!" "Down with tyranny!" came the shouts. While the excitement was at its height the doors of the synagogue were locked and someone telephoned for the police. In a few minutes several patrol wagons filled with officers were on hand. The leaders were arrested and the meeting was dispersed by officers with drawn clubs.

DOOR NOT MADE FOR HORSE.

Tries to Emulate Famous Bull, but Tackles Carson Street Pharmacy.

Perhaps it was the shining bottles and ointment pots that caused John Boylan's horse, fired with zeal, to emulate the proverbial bull, to mistake the Panhandle pharmacy in Carson street for a china shop yesterday afternoon. At any rate the horse, which was attached to a carriage containing Mr. Boylan, who lives at 14 Carson street, and several members of his family, dashed onto the sidewalk and into the open door of the drug store. The door was not made for the ingress of horses let alone of a carriage filled with people, and the horse got stuck in the doorway.

There the animal pawed and kicked so wildly that everybody was afraid to approach it, until W. C. Lindsay went up and with the words, "Bo, boss," tried to soothe it, taking it by the bridle. Mr. Lindsay got a bite on the arm, but he held on to the horse, which, after being drawn from the doorway, quieted down.

SUNDAY RAIDS BRING RESULTS

Blue Coats Invade the Homes of Knights of Fidelity and "Mickey the Hun."

WILD SCRAMBLE FOR FREEDOM

Alleged disorderly houses continued to furnish diversion for the police departments of both cities. Speakeasies were raided and the treasuries on both sides of the river were replenished in consequence. Two club rooms were among those which early fell before the onslaught of the county detectives. Officers Merit, Murin, O'Brien and Armstrong swooped down upon the rooms occupied by the Knights of Fidelity, Marion and Forbes street, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Constable Thomas A. Joyce accompanied them. There were 48 visitors present, but the officers took but three, Howard Owens, William Hemingray and John Heahen, into custody. They are charged with running a gambling house and illegal liquor selling, and each gave bail in the sum of $1,000 for a hearing before Alderman Toole. Two poker tables found in the rooms were confiscated.

Detectives Merit and Murrin and Constable Joyce also called at 4811 Butler street, the home of "Mickey the Hun." This visit was made at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. "Mickey the Hun" was entertaining fully 100 guests, and there was a wild scene of disorder when the officers put in an appearance. Back doors and windows were resorted to as means of escape, but the fright was unnecessary as the officers wanted only three men. Two of these, Fred Vetter and Harry Stecker, were conveniently near, but "Mickey the Hun" was not captured when most desired. The two men captured were sent to jail charged with keeping a gambling house and selling liquor illegally. The officers found that 15 cases of beer had already been consumed and that 38 cases were awaiting customers. There is a chuck-luck table at the district attorney's office this morning as a result of the raid.

During a general fight at the boarding house of Sham O'Milski, 3417 Charlotta street, late Saturday night, officers entered the place and arrested the belligerents. Sham O'Milski was fined $10 and costs at the hearing yesterday morning, and the rest were discharged.

The home of Michael Fayat, 420 Frankstown avenue, changed hands early in the morning, Inspector Bailey and a couple of assistants taking possession. The husband was fined $25 by Magistrate Negley, while Mrs. Fayat's penalty was just double that. Keeping a disorderly house is the charge against the couple.

Two alleged disorderly houses in Allegheny were raided shortly after midnight. At the home of Maggie Tavis, 606 East Robinson street, the proprietress, three girls and three men were arrested. The Tavis woman was fined $50 and costs, the girls $10, and the men $5. The other house raided was just next door, at 608. The proprietress was absent, but a couple of girl inmates were doing the honors. They were fined $25 each, and their four male friends paid $5 and costs each.

SELECT ARCHITECTS FOR NEW SYNAGOGUE

Palmer & Hornbostel Awarded Prize Approximating $10,000 in Competition.

After 10 hours' deliberation the building committee of the Reform Congregation Rodeph Shalom have decided upon Palmer & Hornbostel of New York, the architects of the Carnegie Technical schools, as the successful architects in the competition for the plans of the proposed new temple to be erected on the former Rafferty property in Fifth avenue, between Bidwell street and Morewood avenue.

The competition was opened last June and Prof. Warren P. Laird of the architectural department of the University of Pennsylvania, was engaged as professional adviser to the committee. The unsuccessful competitors were: Allison & Allison and Charles Bickel of Pittsburgh; Albert Kahn of Detroit, Pilcher & Tachau and George B. Post & Sons of New York. The successful architects will receive 5 per cent of the cost of construction and their fee will approximate $10,000. The unsuccessful architects will receive $250 each for their expenses in competing.

All six plans submitted were of such merit that 10 hours were required to arrive at a unanimous conclusion. The property fronts 126 feet in Fifth avenue and has a depth of 240 feet. The accepted plans provide for an entrance foyer 17x58 feet, while the auditorium proper will be 88x88 feet with a seating capacity of 1,100 and will be entirely covered by a dome. A gallery will rise over the foyer and will seat 350. In the rear another auditorium will be erected which will seat 250, into which four Sunday school rooms will open, providing additional seating capacity for 250. Above these rooms four additional Sunday school rooms will be established, together with a ladies' and gentlemen's parlor, library and study. In the basement a kitchen and boiler rooms will be established.

The architectural design will be very simple and the building will be erected of brick and terra cotta. A congregational meeting will be held in the former synagogue, now the Second Presbyterian church, on Tuesday night, when the plans will be presented. The authority for selecting the architect was vested in the building committee.

CONGREGATION USES PIANO WHILE AWAITING ORGAN

With a new $25,000 pipe organ only partially installed and no other instrument at hand with which to accompany the choir, a large square piano was pressed into service by the congregation of the First Presbyterian church, Sixth avenue, during the two-opening services held yesterday morning and afternoon. The piano was placed in front of the church against the handsome marble altar and Organist John A. Bell presided.

Little Mercy for Wife-Beaters.

Two wife-beaters were among yesterday morning's prisoners. Ralph Norris, a negro, faced Magistrate Negley at the Oakland station house. It was said at the hearing that Norris showed strong for pugilistic honors, especially with his wife as an opponent. In the little bout with the magistrate, however, he went to the workhouse for the count, 60 days. A piece of gas pipe is said to have been the instrument with which William Petrack played on Mrs. Petrack's head. A fine of $50 was his part of the purse.

Kills Wife and Himself.

GENEVA, O., Sept. 24.—William W. Harvey, 27 years old, living at Harpersfield, shot and killed his wife today and then killed himself. Harvey had been confined in an insane asylum in Cleveland, but escaped a few days ago and came home.

To Honor Father Mathew.

At a monthly meeting of the Catholic Abstinence union of Pittsburgh held in St. Brigid's Roman Catholic church yesterday afternoon the Rev. John G. Brane was given full charge of the Father Mathew celebration to be held October 30 on Kenwood lawn.

Cornerstone is Laid.

The cornerstone of the new First Lutheran church, Lincoln avenue, Crafton, was laid yesterday afternoon. The exercises were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Charles Brown, pastor of the congregation. The church will be a frame structure costing $5,000, and will seat 200 people.

POLICE INTERRUPT BAD BOYS' DOWNWARD COURSE

Five Are Held for Juvenile Court, While Another Decides to Return Home When Parents Visit Him in Hospital.

Boys who have taken their future into their own hands and started down the path which leads to prison, were the center of interest at the hearings at a number of the city's police stations yesterday. Out of a total of eight boys whom the police have taken charge of during the last few days, five have been brought up short in their downward careers, and at the hearings were held for the juvenile court. Another boy who refused to live at home because he didn't want to go to school, broke down when he was confronted by his parents, and now he promises to be good. A fractured ankle helped him to see the error of his ways.

George and Joseph Houston, George Taylor and James Banks, negroes, and Robert Jenks, who, although only 13 years old, has found it convenient to drop his own name and assume the alias of Harry Johnson, were held for the juvenile court. The first four are charged with stealing a lot of beer and whisky from a delivery wagon. Jenks at the hearing at the police station was so defiant that the police could learn little concerning him. He was arrested at the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie station Saturday night and when searched a 38-caliber revolver and 50 cartridges were found on him. He claims to have come to Pittsburgh from Johnsonburg, Pa., and says he intended to go to California. The boy is said to be a relative of George A. Jenks, the Democratic politician.

Albert Dietrick, the boy who was taken to the South Side hospital, suffering with a fractured ankle received by falling off a trestle at the Castle Shannon incline plane on September 13, and whose parents feared he had been kidnaped by gypsies, yesterday decided he would return to his home in Washington, Pa., when he recovers from his injury. The boy became rebellious when school opened, and, rather than give up the pleasures he had been enjoying during the summer vacation, left his parents' home. After searching parties failed to locate him or the gypsies, the boy's father, Floyd Dietrick, advertised for him in the newspapers and the identity of the boy was established through the South Side police seeing the advertisement. Mr. Dietrick was notified and yesterday he and his wife visited their son at the hospital. The boy denied he was the one advertised for, and said he was from Oakdale, but his bravado deserted him yesterday and he greeted his parents with tears, and is now repentant and willing to go back to school as soon as he recovers.

Frederick and Jesse Morgan, aged 10 and 6, who wandered into Central station Saturday night and told a story of the breaking up of their family by their father and mother separating, were yesterday sent by the police to New Brighton, where their mother is living. The boys said they were kept by their father, while the mother took the two sisters, who have since died. The boys lived in Ravenswood, W. Va., but their father fought a pistol duel with another man and was put in jail, and they had nobody to care for them. They then started to walk to New Brighton.

DEFTNESS AT BRAKE AVERTS BAD ACCIDENT

Dr. A. J. Hopkins Steers Auto from Path of Death to Only Slight Mishap.

By a fine exhibition of steering and rare presence of mind Dr. A. J. Hopkins of 5701 Margaretta street saved himself from a probably fatal accident while descending Meyran avenue in his automobile yesterday evening. He had come down Fifth avenue and turned in on Meyran, where he stopped and his wife, who was with, him, alighted to make a call. Dr. Hopkins was about to turn the auto against the curb to prevent its running down the grade to Forbes street, when the brake refused to work and the auto made a dash toward Forbes street. As it neared the car tracks the doctor could see cars approaching from each direction.

Quickly sizing up the situation he turned to the right and crossed in front of a west bound Bloomfield car and then to the left to receive the impact from an east bound Larimer car, thus changing a probable side swipe into a rear end collision. The force of the collision even then was sufficient to tear off a rear wheel and badly damage the body of the machine.

Mrs. Hopkins, immediately after the auto started, realized the possible danger and ran down the street, arriving just in time to see the auto and her husband vanish behind the Bloomfield car. Upon hearing the crash as the Larimer car struck the auto, she was nearly prostrated with fear for the safety of her husband, but was reassured a moment later when she saw him sitting, unharmed, in the wrecked auto, which was still being pushed ahead of the street car, whose momentum could not be instantly checked. Dr. Hopkins was uninjured, but the machine was badly wrecked.

GREAT INTEREST TAKEN IN TELEPHONE BATTLE

Much Better Service Is Promised as Result of Combination—Local Capital Is Largely Concerned.

With the announcement that the certificate to increase the capital stock of the New York Independent Telephone Company from $900,000 to $50,000,000 had been filed at Albany, N. Y., on Saturday, interest in the big battle between the independents and the Bell Telephone Company for supremacy increased the general interest taken in the subject since the representatives of large financial interests made a tour of the country two weeks ago. The movement to invade the strongholds of the Bell company is not doubted, as it is said the list of men back of the New York company contains the names of representatives of powerful financial institutions.

J. G. Slane, president of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company, the independent company of this city, who attended the meeting of the independent interests in St. Louis as the Pittsburgh representative, yesterday stated that a number of Pittsburgh financial men are interested in the movement, but said it is too early to tell who they are at present. The movement of the independent companies, Mr. Slane said, will result in a much better telephone service, and more lines will be built.

The Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company is owned in this city, and from the beginning of the movement for united work among the independents has been a leader. Other cities taking active part in the movement are St. Louis, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Louisville and Cleveland. It is said to be the intention of the independent companies to unite all the companies from the Rocky mountains to the eastern seaboard.

D. Leet Wilson, president of the Central District and Printing Telegraph Company, which has control of the Bell Telephone Company, declined to discuss the effect the independent movement will have on his company's business. Mr. Wilson said he does not know anything about the intentions of the independents, and did not read the announcement of the filing of the certificate for increasing the capital stock of the New York company.

Just So They Are Old Pupils.

To correct a misapprehension the executive committee of the Dean Pupils association sent out notices yesterday stating that invitations or cards of admittance were not required for the celebration to be held by the association at the Fifth avenue high school tonight. Any person who ever went to school to Professor Dean will be welcome. No cards have been issued and none will be.

CAPTAIN DELANEY AND HIS OFFICE CENSURED

United Labor League's Committee Reports on Conditions in This City.

At a meeting of the United Labor League of Western Pennsylvania at the headquarters, 535 Smithfield street, last night, the report of the committee appointed to investigate the dismissal of Hugh C. O'Donnell, former special factory inspector for the Pittsburgh district, and the conditions of the factories and tenements in this district, was submitted to the members and approved. The report states the governor has been misinformed, as the factories and tenements are so dangerous, revolting and unhealthful that they are a menace to the health and morality of those compelled to enter them, and the people who live near them. The conditions are such that the female factory inspectors on duty in this district are prevented from entering some of the places.

The report indorses the work of O'Donnell in forcing owners of factories and tenements to make them more sanitary and safer, but states that scarcely a start has been made in the work which must be done. The report states Chief Delaney is aware of the conditions in this district, and if he does not believe O'Donnell the proper person to do the work he should send someone else here to enforce the law. The committee also states that about 3,000 cards reporting accidents in manufacturing establishments have been sent to Chief Delaney's office and that less than six of these accidents have been investigated by the deputy factory inspectors as the law requires. It is also charged that the factory law is violated almost daily, as new factories are allowed to start operations without receiving a permit from a deputy factory inspector.

The committee was composed of P. W. J. Gilfoyle, H. W. Legleitner, George J. Churchill and Joseph L. Evans. A letter based on the report of the committee will be prepared and this week sent to Gov. Pennypacker and Capt. Delaney.

The letter received by the league from Gov. Pennypacker relative to the dismissal of O'Donnell was made public last night after the meeting. The letter is dated September 18 and reads as follows:

"Gentlemen—I find upon inquiry from Capt. John C. Delaney, chief factory inspector, that Mr. Hugh C. O'Donnell, the gentleman about whom you inquire, was not removed, but that he was given temporary employment, the necessity for which had ended. Very truly yours,

"SAMUEL W. PENNYPACKER."

The league also had a warm discussion on emigration, and a committee consisting of Joseph L. Evans, G. W. I. Gilfoyle and George J. Churchill, was appointed to prepare a paper on the subject and present it at the next meeting.

DEDICATE FINE CHURCH.

Exercises Witnessed by 10,000, and 3,000 Take Part in Parade.

The new Greek Catholic church at Duquesne, costing $50,000, was dedicated yesterday. The exercises were witnessed by 10,000 people, 3,000 of whom took part in the parade held before the dedication. Visitator Andrew Hodobay, a native and resident of Russia, had charge of the exercises. The Rev. Joseph Hanulya is pastor of the church. Fifteen other priests took part in the exercises.

The church is of the Gothic style and handsomely furnished. The floor is tile and there are eleven fine windows, stained and decorated to represent as many saints. The pulpit is of cut stone. The parade was one of the largest ever held in Duquesne, and uniformed societies from Homestead, Braddock, Clairton and other surrounding towns took part in it.

The rector, the Rev. Dr. J. H. McIlvaine, preached the ordination sermon. In six months the Rev. To the Woman Who Has the Knack of Trimming Her Own Hats.

A Brief Talk on Untrimmed Hats and Hat Trimmings.

She who likes to select the hat and the material, having it made by our milliners to her taste, will also be interested in the following:

Untrimmed Hats in Variety.

Great importance is attached to the untrimmed shape. To its influence may be ascribed the incomparable beauty and charm of this season's millinery. Seldom, if ever, has there been such a choice collection of shapes shown as we have gathered together in our untrimmed hat section. The most exclusive ideas are represented. The new blocked and pressed hats are shown here in all the high art millinery colorings in French felt. Such dainty shades as cedar green, fumee, olive, gray, green, plum, prune, ceil, Alice and arrow blues and browns. Catering to the popular demand for black and white effects, we are showing a line of exceptional beauty, and prices are astonishingly low.

In ready-to-trim hats there are a variety of styles in gathered silk and velvet tops with plain underbrims, sometimes the underfacings are of silks. Especially now are the derby crowns, with brims of varied outlines.

Pressed velvet shapes are much to be noticed and admired. They come in a variety of pleasing effects, both as to color and unconventional outline.

Displayed in the third floor, West, and range in price from $1.75 to $10.00.

Millinery Requisites in Abundance.

In a single word velvet is much of the millinery story of the season. Satins in lightest weights are employed in many ways—beautiful faille silks in all the new tones—chiffon is enjoying special vogue and is seen rolled and coiled about the brims of hats in generous fashion. Ribbons are employed in every conceivable manner. The sparkle and richness of jet casts splendor over many of the new chapeaus.

Millinery Flowers seem to be in perpetual bloom. Fancy feathers, birds, plumes and aigrettes are seen on many of the new models, while a pair of pointed wings jauntily posed give a marked dash and style.

All the above trimmings are shown in colors to harmonize and match the new shapes and are attractively priced—50c to $5.00.

New Autumn Dress Woolens Are Smiling a Welcome.

New arrivals in imported dress weaves are finding a place in the dress goods section most every day—exquisite creations on which Paris, whimsical Paris, has set the seal of approval.

We are ready with new importations of best Irish, Scotch and Moravian Table Cloths and Napkins to match—

Pittsburgh is to become the polo city. It will lose none of its claims to the titles of "smoky city," or "iron city," while attaining its new distinction. It will simply add to the laurels already won by seeking some well-earned recreation. Polo is declared to be the sport of the immediate future to engross Pittsburgh attention.

France is moving slowly in its quarrel with Venezuela, but shows no lack of determination to protect its rights. It has asked Castro's government to reconsider its refusal to communicate through M. Taigny. This makes an opening for Castro to recede with dignity, if he has the wisdom to do so. If not, the United States will not interfere to avert the punishment he so richly deserves. France will not trespass on the Monroe doctrine.

Apparently the Moderate party has won by an overwhelming majority in the Cuban elections. This result will give satisfaction to Americans, as the Moderates stand for continuance of the conservative government established in the island as a result of American occupation. President Palma has given Cuba a good administration, promoting the economic and financial interests of his country, and is fully deserving of another term.

Pittsburgh mills will make the steel for the Havana Central railway, as they have made the steel for almost every important electric railway project in the Western Hemisphere, and many in the eastern. Pittsburgh mills get these contracts because they turn out the best product in the shortest time, at a price hardly higher than would be charged elsewhere for inferior material and long delay. Pittsburgh mills are the biggest and best in the world, manned by the best talent.

A provisional peace agreement has been signed between the Tartars and Armenians in the Caucasus district. They have wrought almost the maximum of destruction in the Baku region and are probably brought into peaceful mood by the prospect of semi-starvation during the winter. In passing it may be said Russia is probably the only country in which such a termination of similar hostilities could be expected, the government being satisfied to rest with a peace treaty between the warring factions.

The Chicago Tribune suggests that Mr. Bryan must be in comfortable circumstances "if he can afford to neglect his farm for two whole years." Not at all. The rural stunts of the "peerless leader" were an affectation. His spectacular picture used in one campaign found him grouped around the hen house in shirt sleeves and one gallus. It was intended as a vote catcher. How well it caught, the world already knows. Mr. Bryan farms for notoriety, not for profit. It will be money in his pocket to take a vacation.

M. Witte, Russian peace envoy, who has been lingering in Paris, will make another stop to visit Emperor William before proceeding to St. Petersburg to report to his royal master. It may be taken for granted this latter visit, and the stay in Paris as well, has been ordered by the czar. The envoy would not dare postpone his personal report in this manner without leave of his majesty. Hence it may also be assumed important diplomatic counsel is being taken from Russia's ally and from the friendly kaiser before the Portsmouth treaty is submitted to Nicholas for final action.

Agreement has been reached by the delegates of Norway and Sweden on all the main questions in controversy, so the separation will be amicably effected. This result has been consistently expected by The Gazette, though at times during the negotiations there were opportunities for a clash. These northern peoples are slower to anger than those of the south. The situation presented by Norway's withdrawal from the union might have entailed most serious consequences in a lower latitude. Now that agreement has been reached the two states are likely to be drawn in closer sympathy than when politically united.

A Shameful Dicker.

There is a prospect for some fun when the Democratic and Citizens committee on tickets meets today. It is said Col. James M. Guffey will demand the placing of Candidate Berry's name in the Citizens column, while Director Edward M. Bigelow insists that column shall have the straight Republican ticket at the top. Mr. Bigelow has the logical end of the argument, for the Citizens have always pretended to be Republicans in state and national matters. Col. Guffey, being Democratic national committeeman for Pennsylvania, is naturally anxious to boost his man Berry in pursuance of the advice of the defeated presidential candidate of his party to gain some footholds in the states in preparation for the next national campaign.

Looking at either the Bigelow or Guffey proposition through the spectacles worn by those gentlemen they are both right. There is no reason in the world why either should yield to the other—that is, no reason either desires to admit. There is a basis, of course, on which they may get together and effect a compromise. It is the basis of bargain and sale, the longing for plunder, the only bond that holds together the Citizens corrupt machine and the discredited remnant of Democracy. The possible terms of the compromise would be the retirement of Alexander Dempster to make sure the election of Clark as county commissioner.

Outside the selfish, dickering interests the exhibition is instructive, if not edifying. Here are a handful of men, meeting today to decide upon whom they will permit their deluded followers to vote for. There is no appeal to the voters in any kind of primaries—simply a barter and sale of positions on the tickets between party bosses organized as select committees. If Berry is put on the Citizens ticket the Democratic committeemen must agree to the slaughter of Clark; if Berry doesn't go on that ticket Mr. Dempster must be taken off. All this in the name of reform!

Here is an illustration of the motives actuating Democrats, Citizens, Lincolnites and others engaged in the attack against the Republican party. The sole and only object is the spoils of office; the patronage on which machines are built. There is the Democratic ambition to get some sort of foothold that will help in the struggle for larger prizes; there are the mercenary desires of the others to get possession of something lucrative for the present, the control of funds and contracts for what can be got out of them. Against this unholy combination is the Republican party. It may be admitted a few rascals have crept into it for profit, whom it is willing to throw out and prosecute, but by comparison with the corrupt combination of office brokers opposing it, the Republican party is white as snow. In brief the Republican party is the party of the people, the Republican party is all right.

Collapse of Rhodesia.

Great Britain is on the verge of a financial sensation that will make the developments of the insurance inquiry in this country resemble three 10-cent pieces. It will be a story of promoters' graft and greed in appalling figures, if we may believe the advance notices. The story will come out of the final collapse of dying Rhodesia, a section of Africa that Cecil Rhodes once proclaimed to be one of the richest spots on earth, and to whose advancement he enlisted all his energies, financial and physical. The projector of the grand schemes for this South African dream is dead, and the enterprises of Rhodesia will soon follow him to a financial grave. There have been similar booms in the United States, but nothing that ever approached the opulence of Rhodes' projections. He was the inspiration of the British South African Company. Bulawayo, the capital of Matebeleland, is, according to a writer in a London journal, a well laid out town, with handsome hotels, shops and blocks of offices. The streets are wide and broad, everything on a vast scale. When credulous English capital was pouring into the country in millions and the promoter flourished, it was a gay capital. Now grass grows two feet high in the once majestic thoroughfares, shops are deserted and the luxuriously furnished offices bear the significant legend "to let." The overwhelming crash cannot long be averted. Then the cost of this wonderful affair in finance will come out. The English people have paid for it, and it will be shown they have been magnificently buncoed. The South Sea bubble has been outdone.

It is shown that on a capital of over £50,000,000 invested in gold mining companies less than £250,000 has been paid in dividends. The sum invested is colossal. Naturally £45,000,000 of this £50,000,000 went into the pockets of the promoters of "wild cat" mines, and it is suggested that even the remaining £5,000,000 was not devoted to honest mining, going, like the funds raised for other schemes, to fleece the confiding public today, to keep up palatial offices and staffs of overpaid officers. There is actually nothing to the country in mining or agriculture, and with its desert soil, innumerable diseases among cattle, horses and sheep, its locusts, hailstorms and drought there is only one end in sight. People are leaving the country as they would flee from a plague.

It is not conjecture, but a certainty that inevitable doom is gathering its forces for the final blow, the bankruptcy of the Chartered Company, and then when the inner history of this company and its founder comes to be written, conspiracies to defraud the public like unto Miller's 540 per cent "get-rich-quick" larceny will pale into utter insignificance in comparison with this scandal. But Cecil Rhodes will hear none of the wails and execrations of the defrauded. He is past the call of the human voice.

Chinese Unfolding.

Bomb throwing has invaded the ancient civilization of China. Oddly enough its first manifestation has been against the reform commission, appointed by the dowager empress and the emperor to investigate foreign parliamentary systems, preliminary to the adoption of a constitutional government. This first bomb outrage was perpetrated in Pekin yesterday, the missile being thrown in the railway car that was to bear the commission to the coast.

China is a queer combination of progress and reactionism. Centuries ago China must have been the most progressive nation in the world. There the first high explosive was invented and the mariner's compass devised. For long years, now, China has been somnolent, its chief desire being to exclude the "foreign devil" and with him his new ideas. Just at present China is waking up. Between its exhibition of utter helplessness six years ago and the Japanese demonstration during the past year and a half the upper classes in China have been awakened to the necessity for adopting new methods. The reform commission is the first great step toward a new life and at the threshold of its career it has been met by the most modern method of assassination, wielded in the most reactionary spirit.

We may assume the event is prophetic of the future. But one member of the royal commission was seriously injured, while the would-be assassin was annihilated. The attack will not stop the progressive movement; the attackers will destroy themselves. This Chinese commission will come first to America and will then return home by way of the capitals of Europe. In two years it may be ready to report, in three certainly, and in five years China, the oldest empire, will adopt for itself the most approved, ready-made constitutional form of government. The bomb of the assassin is a futile weapon that never yet proved a powerful factor in political affairs.

No Game for Women.

Advertisements in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago newspapers of "pleasant parlors" equipped with "every convenience," where women may speculate in the grain and stock markets, have recently induced a large number of amateur gamblers to make what Eugene Field used to call "permanent investments," meaning the kind that never return. The extent to which bucket shops are patronized by women is probably realized only by those who are in the business. A Chicago broker who was threatened with arrest is quoted as saying if it were not for the women he would have to shut up shop, and yet he found them in many ways the most unpleasant class of customers with whom he had to deal. Whenever any of his patronesses became a loser, he was roundly abused and blamed for being the direct cause of the fatal slump. Amid a flood of tears the women invariably demanded their money back. They never remembered the times they had won instead of lost.

It has been said no woman should ever play poker, for she is unable to lose gracefully. When winning she is most agreeable, but when luck turns against her, she displays those very qualities which she is generally at pains to conceal. It is better for femininity to abstain from games of chance when money is at stake. When will woman learn to leave gambling to the men, who are fools enough to accept their losses with equanimity and calmly continue to lose money at the same old game?

When one recalls the Bourbon Democracy's attitude toward "sumptuary laws" and then sees it supporting Berry and Pattison and Glenn, going "check by jowl" with prohibition, one is filled with amazement.

Looking at Rhodesia in the present and the South Sea bubble in the past, the British public may conclude Phineas T. Barnum was right when he said people like to be humbugged.

A London free trade paper, the Liberty Review, has just attacked the British workman as a lazy, worthless lout. Must be looking for a campaign over there.

What does the Hon. John Fow, he of the foghorn voice, defender of the personal liberties, think of running the Democracy as a Prohibition annex?

Probably the most ludicrous figure in the state is the Leader appealing to have its candidate not indorsed by the local Citizens party.

While the Leader is convinced Berry is a good Democrat, it is equally certain he is not fit to be placed on the Citizens county ticket.

Our Democratic contemporary, the Post, appears to have reached the teeth gnashing stage in the campaign, and October not here yet.

We are hearing the familiar prediction of "two-dollar oil." Ever the wish is father to the thought.

Cholera hangs on to Germany with the traditional grip of death when he has the colored citizen.

Col. Guffey proposes to assert himself. He is not paying freight bills where there is no cargo.

Our esteemed contemporary, Wu Ting Fang, has met something worse than a boycott.

Those Finns are the soul of obstinacy. They intend to talk, regardless of the police.

Pittsburgh continues the central market for foreign street railway supplies.

France has given Castro another chance. It asks him to reconsider.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON ON BUSINESS METHODS

No Royal Road to Wealth but Hard Work and Industry. His Life Story.

By SIR THOMAS LIPTON.

There is no royal road to riches, and, in a business as big as mine, no back lane. My methods are open, and anybody can see them. A successful concern is created and maintained by the recognition of great facts and obvious principles—the growth of population and the increased facilities of intercommunication among men and nations. These are the great factors in forming great businesses. To supply the many instead of the few, to handle large instead of small quantities, and to be the grower, the manufacturer, as well as the vender and retailer—to do all this is to adopt, in short, a system of business obvious and open to all.

If I proceed to speak of my own application of these principles and of the individual qualities necessary to work them out in the details of business, I fear I must fall back on some very old saws. My recipe for prosperity in such a concern as mine is at the disposal of all. Here it is: "Work hard, deal honestly, be enterprising, exercise careful judgment, advertise freely but judiciously."

Though he who drives fat oxen need not himself be fat, a captain of industry must live up to his name—must himself be industrious. That is my belief, and it has been my practice all my life.

Attention to Details.

It has been said that a certain attention to business is necessary, even for falling in it. Yes; all that gives some clew to the immense attention bestowed by a successful organizer upon his child—his business. To foster it like a child; to know it cannot thrive by itself; to keep an ever-watchful eye on its thousand details; to tie its very shoestrings, so to speak, and, above all, to do these things one's self and not leave them to the less interested—to do the work that others would do only a little less well—all this is the way to make the baby of a business thrive and come to a flourishing maturity.

The details of a small business are many; of a great business they are multitudinous. By the number of the details of his work that a man can personally master one may usually judge of his capacity for success. There are men with a this or that of a certain limited branch in the great organism of a business, but, outside that special branch, they lack interest and even common intelligence.

This may seem to say that the mind capable of large interests and great issues is rare; but I do not intend to say that. The rarity consists rather in the mind of large interests that is able to concentrate itself upon small details, and be the master of a hundred branches of a trade, working in all with one object, but having in each perhaps a different method of procedure and a separate spirit.

Command and Invitation.

One of the first students of public economy in France in the nineteenth century said that all the difference between a liberal and successful enterprise and one that was tyrannical and unpromising lay between the two phrases in the mouth of the master:

"Go to work" and "Come to work."

He said that in farming, at any rate, "Go to work" meant unlimited failure, and "Come to work," with ordinary luck, led surely to fortune.

Even among people accustomed not only to be commanded, but driven, the industry of the overseer who is present has its sure effect, and the attention of the master who is seen at intervals has its undeniable influence. How much more is this the case in the European workshop and in the complex work of distribution? Here, also, there is a ready response to the beginning of profit-sharing. In the agricultural system of one of the best tilled districts of Europe—Central Italy—the cultivator shares the gross profits with the landlord.

Value of Industry.

How much value I place on industry, and how I believe in devoted hard work at the thing once for all accepted as a man's "calling" in life, may be seen from the fact that even at this stage of my career I generally work from 9 o'clock in the morning to 10 o'clock at night. It has been said, by many who have a right to speak, that labor is never anything but painful, however willingly undertaken and courageously done. But I think this was the conclusion of men who had one of the two kinds of labor to do—the entirely physical and the entirely mental. It is painful to stoop under a burden all day, and "the man with the hoe" is not one of the favorites of fortune.

Work, work, always work, is the only talisman. The goods of life are not unfairly apportioned, as some suppose. The man of leisure and of "pleasure" can hardly complain if he is not also a man of wealth and of health. Success in one career is the reward of sacrifice made for its sake.

The trifler trifles even with happiness. I think that the man who makes a great business must put himself into it; but I do not mean by that he must necessarily become a machine. Against that notion I would put a long list of names, beginning with Peabody and not ending with Carnegie.

Costs Money to Play Politics.

It cost Mr. Martin $11,500 and odd dollars to secure a renomination to the senate in Virginia. This is over a third of the salary he will receive for the whole six years of his new term. It is a pretty steep figure, but made necessary by the situation. Mr. Martin had for an adversary a man very much alive, who set a lively pace and kept it up. There was nothing to do, therefore, but canvass the state from one end to the other, and traveling alone cost money. But there were other legitimate expenses, which drew heavily on the senator's purse, and the total amount is large.—Washington Star.

The Very Same Man.

Judge Parker's reply was a palpable instance of evasion. President McCall charged that when chairman of the New York Democratic state committee, several years ago, Judge Parker received corporation campaign gifts. Judge Parker replies, dodging this charge, by saying that last year he received nothing from the corporations. And that is the man whom some people wanted to see made president of these United States.—Philadelphia Press.

THE MOUNTAINS.

How'er the wheels of Time go round,
We cannot wholly be discrowned,
We bind, in form and hue and height,
The Finite to the Infinite.
And, lifted on our shoulders bare,
The races breathe an ampler air.
The arms that clasped, the lips that kissed,
Have vanished from the morning mist;
The dainty shapes that flashed and passed
In spray the plunging torrent cast,
Or danced through woven gleam and shade
The whoos of the sunbeam's braid,
Grow thin and paler each holy haunt
Of gods or spirits minstrant.
Hath something lost of ancient awe;
Yet from the stooping heavens we draw
A beauty, mystery, and might.
Time cannot change nor worship blight,
The gold of dawn and sunset sheds
Unearthly glory on our heads;
The secret of the skies we keep
And whispers, round each lonely sleep,
Allure and promise, yet withhold,
What bard and prophet ever told,
While Man's slow sees come and go
Our dateless chronicles of snow
Record, chancelike, old inscription show,
And men thereon forever see
The unread speech of Deity.

—Bayard Taylor.

TOO MUCH SPEED FROM NEW CASTLE

Pennsylvanians Go Through the Hopper of Justice After Fast Automobile Trip.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Frank W. Smith and Louis Mather of New Castle, who have been touring the country around New York by daylight and seeing the points of interest about town at night from a 90-horse power French automobile as the guests of George L. Cooper, caught a bird's eye view of modern legal rapid transit yesterday when Mr. Cooper's chauffeur was arrested for exceeding the speed limit at Ninety-ninth street and Fifth avenue. A mounted policeman in Fifth avenue who had been dreaming of promotion, woke up in time to see a huge blue car shoot by him at Ninety-ninth street. Like a flash he was giving chase and after a hard run drew alongside the automobile and placed the chauffeur under arrest. It took just 11 minutes for Mr. Cooper's guests to reach the station house in East One Hundred and Sixteenth street, the Harlem police court, where the chauffeur was shot through the legal mill before Magistrate Walley, who greeted Mr. Cooper with a merry twinkle and permitted his chauffeur to again resume his place at the steering wheel of the automobile.

Mr. Smith and Mr. Mather are wondering whether they were furnishing Mr. Cooper good targets for a practical joke or if they were really in the hopper of the mills of justice, which ground so rapidly they had but little time for thought until they were whirling down Fifth avenue afraid to look at another policeman.

Summer Is Gone at Last.

Now we may all know that the summer is over—at least so far as Greater New York is concerned. It has been very warm the past few days, and there were some who refused to discard the straw hat. But the best evidence of the end of the summer is the fact that Coney Island has given up the ghost. It hasn't been a very prosperous summer for the amusement venders of Coney; there have been too many rainy days, but the last days—and nights—were a blaze of glory nevertheless. The annual mardi gras drew thousands to the resort. Friday more than 200,000 people spent a part of the day at Coney Island, and Saturday the number of visitors reached nearly half a million. It was a record-breaking crowd, and everybody seemed to be having the time of their lives.

Wind Having Great Sport.

During the calm of the summer pedestrians who frequent Broadway almost forgot the pranks of the Flatiron and Times buildings. But during the past few days there has been just enough of a breeze to call attention to what we may expect when the fall winds come. If it keeps on, and a few more tall, thin buildings are erected, it will soon become the fashion to wear strings on one's headgear. It is no fun chasing a hat through a crowded street. Even though the loiterers on the corners do seem to enjoy the sport, there is too much danger of colliding with automobiles or street cars for the victim to get any enjoyment out of the excitement. Then, too, those corners are the resorts of "mashers," and women make it a point to skip those points whenever possible.

Things Doing in Tenderloin.

There are a new inspector and captain of police in the Tenderloin and the policemen and lawbreakers are all on edge. The police have been told that they must get into action, and they have been told that same thing so often that they don't know whether the new officials mean business or not. But the most surprising thing is the fact that Inspector Schmittberger says there is graft in the precinct. Mr. McAdoo was never able to discover this fact, with all his acumen, however. To stop this sort of thing the matter of illegal resorts has been taken out of the hands of the precinct detectives, and the men who patrol the beats are made responsible for everything that goes on. Heretofore they have paid little attention to anything that did not occur in the streets.

Tammany Waiting on Fusionists.

The local political situation is still very much "up in the air." The Tammanyites are afraid, apparently, to do anything until they know what the fusionists are going to do, and the only matter settled upon for the Tammany ticket is that Mr. McClellan will be renominated for the mayoralty. There is also some talk that Mr. Grout will not be allowed to refuse another term as controller, but it is only talk. Murphy is waiting to see how strong a ticket he has to fight before taking a chance on naming the men he wants to work for him. The fusionists are still looking for a candidate for mayor, with no apparent success. The citizens are back in line for fusion, and there is just a fighting chance of success. It isn't a good betting proposition, however.

Wants Fight on State Issues.

What reason is there for fighting the Ohio campaign out on national issues? If the party managers will only have the courage of their convictions Gov. Herrick will be triumphantly re-elected in a campaign waged on state issues. It is of such that the people are thinking and talking, and any attempt to evade their discussion will react to the injury of Republicanism. Gov. Herrick's administration has been clean; don't be afraid to tell the people about it.—Steubenville Herald.

SOME GOOD STORIES OF PITH AND MOMENT

Gossipy Chat and Anecdote of Entertaining and Instructive Character.

Landlord—Well, has everything been all right since you've been with us?

Departing Guest—Yes, only you know that when we came and found no cupboard in our room you promised us you'd put up some hooks, but you didn't."

"Oh, yes; I forgot"——

"And you told us you'd give us a table to ourselves, but you didn't."

"Well, but look here"——

"And you said your 'bus met the train, but it didn't."

"Yes, but I explained"——

"And you said you'd give us a room where we'd get the ocean breeze, while, in fact, you gave us one opening upon the weather boarding of another room and facing directly away from the beach."

"Oh, well, you"——

"And you said the hotel was on the ocean end of the parade, while as a matter of accuracy it is half a mile from the sea."

"But they all adver"——

"You said the place was orderly and that the table was good, yet we haven't been able to sleep at all, and whenever we wanted a decent bite to eat we had to go out after it."

"Why, my dear sir"——

"Yes; with the few exceptions named everything has been perfectly satisfactory, and we shall take great pleasure in telling our friends so."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Of New Mexico and Pittsburgh.

"I've seen some queer mistakes made by telegraph operators in my time," said Jack Malloy, chief clerk at the Hotel Baltimore, "but Saturday one turned up that discounted them all. We had a man named W. H. Andrews staying here and he was looking for a telegram. More than a dozen times Saturday he asked, here at the desk, for his message, but we had seen nothing for him. About 5 o'clock that evening he came back again and began looking through the telegrams here. Suddenly he turned to me and said:

"'Malloy, I'll bet that's my message. What do you think about it?'

"I looked at the address on a telegram he handed me. It read:

"'W. H. & Town.' It was his message."—Kansas City Times.

An Apt Illustration.

To illustrate a point of statecraft which need not be raised here, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the English statesman, has been telling his constituents a story of a small boy who went to his mamma and asked her to lend him a pencil.

"But," said the mother, "I left a pen and ink for you to do your lessons with on the nursery table. Why don't you use that instead of a pencil?"

Clarence hesitated for a moment.

"Don't you think, mamma," he said at length, "that the Times is a very useful paper?"

"Of course I do," answered mamma; "but what"——

"Well, you see," the little lad explained, "I want a pencil to write to the editor and ask him what'll take ink stains out of a carpet."—Cleveland Leader.

Hustling the Clergy.

A western newspaper man once connected with a journal in Denver was one day in conversation with his chief when a clerical-looking gentleman entered the office.

"Sir," said he, gravely, "I intend next Sunday to preach a sermon upon football, and it has occurred to me that an enterprising paper like yours would be pleased to have my manuscript. I have no doubt that any number of your readers would be glad to read it and"——

"All right, all right!" interrupted the busy editor, "but you'll have to hustle it along. Get it in early—early, mind! Our sporting page is the first to close."—Harper's Weekly.

A Converted Man.

A big man with a head as devoid of hair as a billiard ball was doing the talking in a "testimony" meeting at an Eighth street mission. "I told the man who works next to me in the shop that I had been converted, hoping to influence him. 'But I don't see that you're different in any way,' he replied. 'You haven't seen me drunk for a year, have you?' I asked. 'No, I haven't,' he admitted. 'Did you ever see me sober before that time?' No, he hadn't. 'Have you heard me swear for a year?' He admitted that he hadn't. 'Ever hear me speak before without cussing?' He shook his head. 'Well, what more do you want?' I asked. 'Want me to grow a new crop of hair on my bald head?'" The balance of the testimony was lost upon the laughing audience.—Philadelphia Record.

Not a Difficult Feat.

Booth Tarkington has among the curios in his airy New York apartment a boomerang.

A magazine editor said of this odd weapon the other day:

"I do not believe that a native can handle a boomerang so that it will return to the precise spot it started from."

"I believe it," said Mr. Tarkington. "Why, a magazine writer can do the very same thing with his manuscript if he inclosea a stamped envelope."—New York Times.

Gaining Strength Daily.

The Republican county ticket is daily gaining strength among the voters of Washington county. This is not due so much to the activity on the part of political managers, but on account of the wholesome sentiment which has been created through the unfair attacks made upon the integrity of the party. The Republican party of Washington county has for many years enjoyed the confidence of the large majority of voters. A splendid majority was given to the whole ticket last fall, the largest in the history of the county, and this in the face of opposition on the part of many Republicans and the general apathy which existed during the campaign.—Washington Observer.

Always Looking Backward.

The Democratic managers in Virginia are now reduced to desperate shifts in campaign logic. Mr. Swanson is appealing for support on the ground that the Republicans, if successful this year, will repeal the new state constitution. If the Republicans win under the new constitution they will hardly feel like going back to the old one, under which their record of defeats stretched back for more than 30 years.—New York Tribune.

Strong on the Finish.

There is some shaking of heads over the pervading cheerfulness and the absence of gloom in the new Methodist hymnal, but since every hymn ends with an "Amen" in good Methodist fashion, worshippers will soon get used to the juxtaposition of Dr. Watts and Rudyard Kipling, and come in strong on the finish.—Boston Herald.

Here's Hoping the Same.

"That's damned white of Andy." Probably on mature reflection Mr. Carnegie will change his mind about having this put on his tombstone. It is a kindly sentiment, but rather lacking in dignity. Anyhow, there is a strong hope that Mr. Carnegie will not need a tombstone in many years.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Mr. Bryan's Cheering Message.

Mr. Bryan thoughtfully offered a few words of encouragement to Republicans before bidding goodby for a year to his native land. Republicans appreciate Mr. Bryan's cheering message, and will see that the country is kept safe for him till he return.—New York Tribune.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

A well-known citizen of Allentown went to New York last night with his wife, willing to spend a little money for a pleasure trip, because of the money which his landlord saved him. As the Allentown man's lease on his house is only from month to month, the owner hoping to sell the house at any time, he does not want his name used.

"My landlord," said he, "is one of those men who are averse to spending money to put his property in repair, especially as there is such a demand for houses that tenants have to put up with many inconveniences. Now, I wanted him to make several improvements and repairs, but all my endeavors to move him were fruitless. One day, a real estate agent a particular friend of mine, called on the old skinflint and told him that he had a purchaser for the house I am living in. The house is worth only $2,700, but the agent said the prospective buyer liked the house and was willing to pay $3,000 for it. The agent said he had looked at the house and he would not even talk about buying it until the landlord put it in repair. He called again after that, and finally the old fellow decided to put the house in good shape. He put new water spouts in, laid a new floor in the kitchen, put a nice boardwalk all around the house and new steps on the back porch. Altogether he spent $700. I understand he is waiting for the agent to come around with that prospective purchaser, but the agent won't come. I told you he is a particular friend of mine, and I'm afraid the landlord, if you published my name, would fire me out of the house under the most wrongful suspicion that I fixed up a game with the agent."

New Scheme Outlined for Warner.

Gen. A. J. Warner of Ohio, the former champion of free silver, who abandoned politics a few years ago for the business field, turns up with a scheme for making even Pittsburgh smokeless. Here is progress. While in politics Gen. Warner assisted in making the atmosphere so thick on the money question that hundreds of thousands of Democrats lost their way and landed in the Republican camp. And many of them are still there. Now if he can apply his business discovery to politics, and make everything clear and bright there, fortune and permanent fame await him. Mr. Bryan is on the eve of sailing for a long absence in foreign lands and Gen. Warner should improve the opportunity and get busy. A smokeless financial atmosphere is the demand of the times.—Washington Star.

Say Nothing and Saw Wood.

"If you have anything stolen from you while sojourning in Mexico, unless it be of very great value, pocket your loss and say nothing about it," remarked Mr. W. W. Haywood of St. Louis. "While my wife and I were in the Mexican capital recently she had a handsome garment stolen, a jacket of which she was quite proud, and for which she gave something like $50. A detective was put on the case, and it wasn't long until he had turned up the thief in the person of a former servant. The thief had mutilated the coat considerably, in order to forestall its identification, and even then, in order to recover it, I had to pay one $7, which, it seems, the laws of the sister republic justified."—Washington Post.

Gave Them Something to Work On.

"J. Lee Plummer, Republican candidate for state treasurer, will have a majority of over 150,000 votes at the November election. This figure is extremely conservative and is based upon reliable reports of conditions throughout the state," State Chairman Andrews made this prediction recently. The chairman did not wish to make an estimate so early in the campaign, but the "Lincoln" party agents are so busy in their exploitation of nightmare figures that he consented to give them a real basis upon which to work.—Warren Mail.

Can't Understand It.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh politics are too tangled and troubled for the country fellows to understand. We all know that the city politicians are fighting for reform, but it is very difficult for a poor but honest countryman to recognize the peculiar brands of reform bred in the big and wicked cities. We know reform out in Ballick and Springfield and Bullskin townships when we see it, but we can't understand it in Connellsville when the Democrats parade into power after the banner of reform, or in other big centers of population mentioned.—Connellsville Courier.

The coroner has ordered a post-mortem examination of the body of Christ Carl, who died in the Allegheny county jail at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. He was committed by Justice of the Peace Elcessor of Etna, on a charge of larceny, on information made by Anthony Sintag. Just before he was put in jail he swallowed a powder and afterward remarked: "I will never reach jail."

The constable thought the powder was harmless and said nothing about it. He was in jail but a short time when he was found dead in his cell. It was then thought death was due to aicholism. He was 32 years old and lived at Etna. The officers at the morgue are of the opinion he died from poison.

An unknown white man died suddenly in his cell at the McKeesport police station yesterday. He was arrested Saturday night for drunkenness. The sergeant paid no attention to him until 9 o'clock yesterday morning when he went to the cell to see if he wanted anything. Receiving no response he examined the man and found him unconscious. He summoned a physician who pronounced him dead. He was about 35 years old and an American. There was nothing on his clothes by which he could be identified.

The body of a man was found in the wickets of Herrs Island dam yesterday morning. When it was brought to the morgue a slip of paper was found in his pocket on which was written, "Jack Haas, 1326 Main street, Sharpsburg." The police of Sharpsburg were asked to make an investigation and it was learned that a man by the name of Haas lived there but was not at home. Two of Haas' friends came to the morgue later and said it was not the body of Haas. The man was well dressed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—(Special.)—Representative Burton of Cleveland has placed himself at the disposal of the Ohio Republican state committee from October 7 to November 7. Mr. Burton received an invitation from Chairman Dick today with the request that he should state in his reply how much time he could afford to give to the campaign. Opposes Cards and Dances.

The Rev. Thomas Parry, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Wilkinsburg, in his sermon yesterday morning on "Dancing and Cards," discussed the church gambling of today as destroying and weakening the church in the world. "It is time," he said, "for the pulpit to speak out clear and distinct on the subject of card playing, which is leading up to gambling, and on the dance, which consumes the spiritual life of the soul."

POLITICAL SITUATION IN HUNGARY MOST DESPERATE

Leaders Declare That a Cabinet Cannot Be Formed on Conditions Imposed by the King-Emperor. Negotiations Are Abruptly Concluded.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

VIENNA, Sept. 24.—Count Cziraky, who yesterday was appointed by the king emperor, Francis Joseph, to negotiate with the leaders of the coalition parties in the Hungarian diet, with a view to the formation of a Hungarian cabinet, had a conference with these leaders today at the Hotel Bristol, lasting for an hour and a half.

It is understood that the count received from them a written declaration to the effect that they would be unable to assume the responsibility of government on the conditions imposed by his majesty, as these conditions were directly in opposition to their personal views and also in opposition to the mandate of the people at the last election.

Count Cziraky then left the conference in order to report to the king-emperor, promising to return with his majesty's reply. After an audience of the king-emperor, Count Cziraky returned to the hotel and found that Count Julius Andrassy, Conut Zichy, Baron Banffy and Francis Kossuth had departed for Budapest and that Count Albert Apponyi, the other representative of the coalition, had gone to join his family at Weidlingau. This apparently brings the negotiations to a close.

It is admitted here that the situation is now worse than ever and Count Cziraky's mission is considered hopeless. Considerable excitement prevails in political circles and the developments of the next few days are anxiously awaited.

Abandoned Baby Finds Home in Allentown

"I need something of that kind in my home. It's mine if no one comes to claim it," said Jacob Elgasser, as he gingerly took a little white, woolly thing in his arms and started to trudge toward his house. In the little white bundle was a little pink baby, which looked very gravely up into Jacob Elgasser's face while it lay in his unaccustomed arms. The baby had been found by some boys who were playing in Industry street, Allentown. It is about four weeks old and was wrapped in a white woolen shawl. There were no marks on any of the clothing by which it could be identified, and Elgasser is glad of it.

POLISH CHRISTENING HAS THE USUAL ENDING

Riot Call Sends a Squad to a Celebration in Woods Run—One Policeman Hurt.

A Polish christening in Leckey avenue, Woods Run, Allegheny, last night ended in the riot that usually follows such celebrations. The carousing started yesterday morning at daybreak and at 9 o'clock last night a riot call was sent in to No. 3 patrol station. A wagonload of officers found Policeman Edward Couch in a desperate conflict on the sidewalk, with a mob of infuriated Poles, who took to flight when seeing the bluecoat reinforcements.

Mike Sobrinsky, who was the father of the child responsible for the christening, had the door bolted, but the squad outside could hear the din of battle raging in the house. They broke down the door just in time to see a beer keg bouncing from the head of Policeman Fred Bowman. The latter had been summoned from his beat by Policeman Couch and had gone in to try to quell the disturbance.

Paul Bobik, John Kapor, Mike Alaski and Paul Pluanski were placed in the wagon and taken to the station. Policeman Bowman was taken to a doctor's office and later removed to his home, suffering with a severe contusion of the scalp and a bad headache. The police expect to make several more arrests today, as most of the offenders escaped before the police got into the house.

ACOUSTICON IS USED.

Apparatus for Increasing Volume of Sound Is Successfully Operated in Christ M. E. Church.

As a special convenience to the aged and as aid to any who might be affected in their hearing the church acousticon which has been installed in Christ Methodist Episcopal church, Center and Liberty avenues, was used for the first time yesterday. It operated successfully.

The apparatus consisted of sensitized plates placed upon the pulpit out of view of the congregation, and these lead by wires under the carpet to the pews, where they are connected with discs which, when laid lightly to the ear, increase the volume of sound.

Several members of the congregation made use of the appliances yesterday and found they assisted them materially in hearing the minister in parts of the auditorium farthest removed from the pulpit.

The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Daniel Dorchester, Jr., resumed evening services yesterday before a large congregation.

MAKES THREE ADDRESSES.

Mrs. Maude Ballington Booth Is Heard by Large Audiences.

Mrs. Maude Ballington Booth, wife of the commander of the Volunteers of America, addressed three large meetings in this vicinity yesterday. In the morning she spoke in the Highland Presbyterian church, Wellesley avenue; in the afternoon in the First Presbyterian church, McKeesport, and in the evening in the First Presbyterian church, Wilkinsburg.

In McKeesport Mrs. Booth was heard by fully 1,000 people, including many representative citizens. She delivered an impressive address on the work of the Volunteers in the prisons. Singing, which was one of the features, was provided by the united choirs of several McKeesport churches, while seated about Mrs. Booth on the platform were the Revs. J. A. Maxwell, J. E. Walker and William H. Decker.

SENDS REASSURING MESSAGE TO HIS WIFE

Express Messenger, Mysteriously Missing, Writes That He Has Not Killed Himself.

"Don't think that I have committed suicide."

This was the message that A. H. DeRoss of Elwood, Pa., sent to his wife after he had disappeared from this city last Friday. He was employed as a messenger clerk by the Wells-Fargo Express Company, and his wife and brother, G. W. DeRoss of 4775 Yew street, have asked the police to search for him. The man was in ill health and despondent, and his relatives fear he might have killed himself.

DeRoss and his wife came to Pittsburgh Friday. He left his wife to go and see some friends, and Mrs. DeRoss said she would go to the Exposition and would meet him later. She waited several hours at the appointed meeting place, but her husband did not put in an appearance. His wife returned to Elwood without him.

DeRoss did not appear the next day and his wife notified his brother here. Later she received a letter informing her that he had not taken his life and for her to keep any valuables she had of his and dispose of what personal property of his she did not want. This information was carried to the police. DeRoss worked between Allegheny, Butler and Elwood. He was married last March and his brother says he talked of going to Arizona. He had about $150 with him when he came to the city last Friday. He is 31 years old and was considered a steady, hard-working employe by the express company officials.

CREATORE HAS COME.

Italian Conductor and His Band Open Two-Weeks' Engagement at the Exposition Today.

Creatore and his Italian band come to the Exposition today for a two weeks' engagement. The great bandmaster will be in the city this morning, having completed a two weeks' engagement in Cincinnati on Saturday night.

Creatore has been coming to Pittsburgh for several seasons. His first appearance here was the signal for an outpouring of the musical loving and laymen alike, many being attracted by his peculiar leading methods, while the majority were swayed by the excellence of his music. He at once made a pronounced hit. Few of the audiences expected the surprise that was in store for them. When Creatore first began to lead here, raising his hands far above his head, shaking his black hair, swooping out over his players, a Svengali in form, the audience was inclined to smile. But Creatore did not see the smiles. He was too busy getting results. Before many measures it became evident that his gestures were not poses. Smiles gave way to the sharpest attention, till, when Creatore shook his hair and strained up on tip-toe to his climax, the entire house broke out, not in hand-clapping, but in spontaneous cheers. It was a genuine tribute to the power of personal magnetism and was repeated at the close of every number on every program during the several seasons of engagements of the Italian leader.

The same impetuousness of treatment, the familiar modulations of expression and repression will be welcomed at the concerts at the Exposition during the next two weeks. For this afternoon Creatore has an arrangement which is particularly suited to the higher tastes. But few of the concerts during the next 14 days will be of the so-called popular order. Pittsburgh wants the heavier programs, and in arranging for his stay here the idea of making the numbers as ponderous as possible has been carried out. Included on this afternoon's program will be works of Verdi, Creatore, Waldteufel, Mattei, Rosales and other favorite composers. The programs are as follows:

2 P. M.

March, "American Navy".....Creatore
Overture, "La Schiava Saracena"..Mercadante
Intermezzo, "Moralba".....Rosales
Polka, "Mezzanotte".....Waldteufel
Finale, Act 1 "Aida".....Verdi

4 P. M.

Prelude to "Traviata".....Verdi
Intermezzo, "Passarella".....Gregh
Cornet Solo, "Non e ver".....Mattei
Grand Selection, "Mefistofele".....Boito
Solos by Signori Pierno and Forcellati.

BANKERS WILL BE ENTERTAINED

Many Social Features Arranged in Connection With the Annual Convention.

RECEPTION AT WHITE HOUSE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Government officials are co-operating with the local committee in arranging for the annual convention of the American Bankers' association, October 10-13. An executive committee composed of prominent Washington bankers has been busy for several weeks preparing an elaborate program for the entertainment of visitors.

John Joy Edson, president of the Washington Loan & Trust Company and chairman of the executive committee, says reports indicate that fully 4,000 bankers will be here, and that preparations are being made to entertain all that come, even if they should exceed that number. The plans of the Washington bankers have been so laid that every one of the visitors will have opportunity to participate in all the events arranged. To do this several of the most interesting features of the program will be repeated at least once after the original performance. The government departments will be open until 4:30 o'clock every afternoon for the benefit of the visitors.

By special invitation from Secretary Shaw, the visiting bankers will be afforded unusual opportunities to view the workings of the treasury department. Every nook and corner of the department building and the bureau of engraving and printing will be thrown open to them and experts in the various branches of the service will be on hand to explain the manner in which business is conducted.

There will be excursions to Mt. Vernon and Alexandria, Va., each day of the convention, both by trolley and boat. On Wednesday, October 11, the visitors will be received by President Roosevelt at the White House from 3 to 4:30 in the afternoon. On Thursday and Friday they will be the guests of the officers of the Thirteenth cavalry and Third and Fourth artillery at special exhibition drills at Fort Myer, embracing difficult feats of horsemanship and military maneuvers. Thursday evening, October 10, the delegates will be the guests of honor at a banquet to be given at the New Willard hotel by the local branch of the association.

Secretary and Mrs. Shaw will give a reception in honor of the bankers at the Arlington hotel Wednesday evening, October 11, and the trustees of the Corcoran Gallery of Art also will give a reception to them that evening. On Thursday evening, October 12, the visitors will attend two theater parties and the following evening a formal reception will be tendered them by the Washington members. On Thursday and Friday afternoon a chartered excursion boat will take the visitors for a sail on the Potomac.

The business meetings of the convention will be held in the new National theater October 11, 12 and 13. The section on savings banks will meet in the ball room of the New Willard hotel, beginning October 10, and the section on trust companies will meet in the banquet hall of the Shoreham hotel the same day. Throughout the session speeches on general banking will be made. F. M. Swinney, president of the First National Bank of Kansas City, is president and James R. Branch of New York secretary of the association. New officers will be elected during the convention.

LEADERS GO TO ROENIGK'S AID

Bigelow and Hays to Force the Passage of the Artesian Well Ordinance.

DOCTORS ARE OPPOSED TO IT

Select Councilman E. R. Walters has been served with notice that Director Bigelow and Mayor Hays propose to take the Roenigk artesian well ordinance out of his committee, where it has been buried for about six months, and pass it through select council, despite the opposition of the medical members of the upper branch, whom Dr. Walters claims strongly disapprove the project. An attempt by the administration to withdraw the ordinance from Dr. Walters' committee is expected to be made today.

Dr. Walters and A. G. Roenigk, the father of the bill, are members from the same ward and were elected on the same ticket, but their relations have not been harmonious since their election. The ordinance provides for the expenditure of $10,000 to drill artesian wells in front of school houses, in public parks and elsewhere throughout the city.

The committee from which it is proposed to take the ordinance is composed of three doctors—E. R. Walters, H. B. Burns and W. H. Weber.

"Every member of the committee and every doctor in select council will oppose the passage of the ordinance," said Chairman Walters last night. "I was told by Director J. W. Clark that if our committee did not report the ordinance out, Director Bigelow and Mayor Hays would have it taken out. Experience has shown that while you may get good water from one or two artesian wells, the majority of wells drilled in a city do not give pure water. It is possible to get pure water in artesian wells in the country, where the conditions are much different. Another reason why the committee is opposed to artesian wells is that the city is building a big filtration plant to furnish pure water, and to expend $10,000 for artesian wells means a waste of money."

Mr. Roenigk has worked unceasingly since his election to councils to have the artesian wells idea put into practice by the city. Although he has met with frequent and discouraging set-backs, he seems confident that he will at last succeed. At the beginning Director Bigelow opposed the project and is said to have winked at the shelving of the measure in Dr. Walters' committee of select council. The $10,000 for the wells has been appropriated, and unless the ordinance is soon passed by select council the money will be put to some other use by Director Bigelow.

Both branches of councils are expected to have quorums today. Select council has a great many bills from common council to act upon. Outside of the business of the finance committee, which met last week, there is little for the common branch to transact.

CARNIVAL NIGHT AT LUNA.

Press Club Concludes Elaborate Preparations for Entertainment of Visitors to the Pleasure Resort.

Men, Women and children, masked and in costume, will be much in evidence at Luna park this evening, Press club night, and will take part in the big confetti battle on the grounds. Amateur "barkers" from among the members of the Press club will be stationed in front of Arcadia, Ziz, Chateau Alphonse, Mystic River, A Trip to the Alps, Scenic Railway and other amusements. There is much speculation as to the identity of the young lady who will dive from the end of a boat into the lagoon after shooting the shoots.

Guenther's band will be reinforced by a number of soloists from the Pittsburgh Symphony orchestra. Mrs. Guenther Hilleman will play a piccolo and a flute solo, while Mr. Guenther himself will render a flute solo. Miss Stella Kiraify will give a new dance, especially arranged for Press club night. The ballet of 50 will give some new evolutions. A juvenile vaudeville performance will be given in the scenictorium by children ranging in age from 6 to 12 years. Nicholas F. Auen, the champion baton swinger and gun-driller, will be seen on the large outside stage.

MERCHANTS MAY ABOLISH STAMPS

Allegheny Men Organize to Fight Against the Business Throughout the County.

ONE MAN GIVES HIS REASONS

Trading stamps are to be abolished in Allegheny, if the plans of an organization now in course of formation are successful. The first meeting was held yesterday afternoon in Kenyon's hall, Federal street, Thomas Kenyon presiding. About 100 retail dealers, representing almost every branch of mercantile trade on the North Side, were present, and nearly every one spoke. The opinion was unanimous that trading stamps were a needless expense, and did not help the trade of the merchant.

As it was Sunday, no permanent organization was effected, and the same fact kept away men who are in sympathy with the movement. On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock another meeting will be held at the same place, at which a much larger attendance is expected. At this meeting officers will be elected and a plan of campaign formulated. After yesterday's meeting Mr. Kenyon said:

"There are many small grocers in Allegheny who are spending anywhere from $700 to $1,000 a year for stamps to give away to their trade. The grocer next door and the grocer across the street is doing the same thing. Every grocer who wants to hold his trade does the same. The result is that everyone gives trading stamps and the stamp today furnishes no trade incentive to anyone. If one man in a neighborhood could make a contract with the trading stamp company that would give him the exclusive right to give away stamps, then it would be of some benefit to him. But when every merchant in the city gives away stamps, and by giving them attracts no additional trade to himself, then he is simply losing the hundreds or thousands of dollars he spends for them each year. The thing is a dead loss to the merchant.

"At our meeting on Wednesday night we will form an organization of the Allegheny merchants. Then we are going into Pittsburgh, McKeesport and all outlying districts and try to organize every merchant in the county."

NOMINATIONS AT MINGO.

Republicans Name W. J. Griffith for Mayor, While the Democrats Place F. L. McCoy in the Field.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 24.—(Special.)—The Republicans of Mingo Junction at their primary election yesterday nominated the following for village offices: Mayor, W. J. Griffith; marshal, William Christen; clerk, C. S. Grimes; treasurer, James A. Smith; council, Walter T. Seese, Adolph Swartz, William Helmbrecht; assessors, Joe Scott, Kyle Stephens, Arch Carmichael.

The Democrats at their primary made the following nominations: Mayor, F. L. McCoy; marshal, Scott Roe, Jr.; clerk, Frank McLister; treasurer, John C. Graham; council, Henry Becker, Michael McCaffrey, W. R. Smith, Jerry Neville; assessors, Marion Beresford, Earl Coleman, Edward Vermillion.

Broken Truck Causes Blockade.

Owing to the breaking down of the front truck of a car in Forbes street, near Seneca, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the street was blockaded for some time. Cars running east and west were held up until the damaged car could be gotten out of the way. City bound cars continued to the city by way of Fifth avenue. The emergency wagon from the Oakland barns took charge of the wrecked car and soon afterward the tracks in Forbes street were cleared.

Jones Must Explain in Court.

Magistrate Negley at the East End station house yesterday morning held William Jones, a negro, for court in $500 bail. In a fight in East Liberty Saturday night he is said to have plunged a knife perilously close to the heart of Henry Mosby, also a negro. Jones apparently has a penchant for cutting and slashing, as this is said to have been his second offense within a few weeks.

AUTO AFTERMATH OF MOTOR TRIAL

H. H. Lyttle, Who Made a Good Showing in Vanderbilt and Bennett Races, Disappoints.

WHY SOME CARS FAILED

Ten cars started on Saturday in the elimination trial races to select five cars to represent the United States in the contest for the W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., cup, October 14. Five finished and the others were disabled. The start was made at 6:30 a. m., just at dawn and the cars were dispatched two minutes apart. The distance was four laps of the course of 28.3 miles, or 113.2 miles. The real race will be ten laps, or 283 miles.

The big disappointment was H. H. Lyttle with the Pope-Toledo that he drove in the race for the Bennett cup in France. Lyttle was the favorite for the race. He had trouble at the start when throwing on his high speed gear. In the round the sub-frame which supports the engine broke and he retired. Lyttle was not only a favorite in the eliminatory trial race, but was thought to have a great chance to win the big race.

Trouble for the White Car.

Walter C. White, who drove the only steam car in the contest, destroyed the hopes of the friends of the White car by going out in the first round. Mr. White for three years managed the London branch for his establishment and had made a good showing in all the foreign reliability and endurance contests. He got as far as the third turn, at Bull's Head, when he quit through a second accident. His first mishap occurred as he started, about 20 feet beyond the tape. As he attempted to throw in his high speed gear a toggle joint broke. He coasted down the grade and stopped. By taking the needed parts from a White touring car he made a repair and started again after a loss of 23 minutes. The car was not in condition, however. It took him a little more than an hour to make the first round, and on the second lap the universal joint broke and he quit. White's mishaps deserved condoning, because they were due to the car being severely injured by a collision with a telegraph pole on Friday and it was repaired on the scene, when factory work was needed.

E. H. R. Green's air cooled Franklin of 80 cylinders which, like the White steamer, was a sensational entry of much interest, got as far as Bull's Head on the second round. The engine was running all right, but the pin of the universal joint sheared off, flew against the gasoline tank and stove a big hole in it. The novel car of Walter Christie, with its engine driving directly on the front, got into trouble early, but managed to get under way again and complete two rounds before it met with a more serious mishap and quit.

Christie Loses Tire.

At Jericho, the first turn, on the first round, the Christie car burst a tire and broke a rim. Mr. Christie requested from Referee Vanderbilt permission to put on an entire new wheel. The request was granted with the proviso that the car might be disqualified later by the commission. Roberts lost an hour and when he got under way again proved to be a driver in need of much experience. He went from side to side on the road at top speed, and got everyone's nerves on edge. He kept going until he was nearing Jericho on the third round, when he tore off both front tires and crashed into a telegraph pole.

Mongoni, driving a Matheson, did not get to the second turn on the first round. A little beyond Jericho the same thing happened to it that caused the other Matheson, driven by Tom Cooper, to be scratched on Friday night. The engine overheated so that the piston head "seized," or became welded fast in the cylinder. This was attributed to the fact that the supply of lubricant was deficient owing to the oil tank having been changed in order to reduce the weight.

The story of the five successful cars is in detail as follows:

On the first round Dingley, who started second, was the only one to pass Nutt, who started first, although each of the three others to qualify made better time than Nutt. On the second round Tracy, who started fifth, eight minutes after Nutt, passed him just beyond East Norwich, but it is a peculiar fact that after this all the qualifying cars retained their respective order in crossing the tape. Their times for the different laps varied, but in no case was it enough to overcome the difference in distance caused by the intervals between the starts, and thus the race was one in which the danger of accident was greatly lowered by there being little passing of one car by another at full speed. In the second round Jardine passed Roberts and was nearly two minutes ahead when the Royal upset and was delayed enough to let Roberts nearly catch him. They crossed the tape only 1 minute and 10 seconds apart, Roberts being ahead in point of time, though nearly a mile behind. On the third round, however, Jardine pulled away from Roberts, made up the time lost and resumed third place in point of time. The transitions of place noted were the only ones between the surviving five, except that the Christie car, when it got going after its mishap, passed some of the others, and so did the White in completing its first round.

Order at Judges' Stand.

The order in which they passed the judges' stand on the first lap was: Dingley, Nutt, Tracy, Roberts, Lyttle, Jardine, Winchester, White, Robertson. On the second round the order was: Dingley, Tracy, Nutt, Jardine, Roberts. On the third and fourth rounds the order across the tape was the same as in the second round, although the real positions of the men, as determined by their actual elapsed times, had changed.

The respective positions of the qualifying competitors as it stood in each round, according to their times, were as follows: First round, Dingley, Tracy, Roberts, Jardine, Nutt. Second round, Dingley, Tracy, Roberts, Jardine, Nutt. Third round, Tracy, Dingley, Jardine, Roberts, Nutt. Fourth round Dingley, Tracy, Jardine, Nutt, Roberts.

Of the five cars that finished and qualified for the big international contest Tracy, with the locomobile and Nutt with the little Haynes were the only ones who had no trouble at all and went through without slackening speed. Dingley stopped and lost a minute or so on the round tinkering his carbureter. Roberts, with the Thomas, dropped pieces of his battery box along the road in front of the stand at the end of the first round and after that had some ignition troubles. The worst mishap to any of the winners visited Jardine, who upset but righted and went pluckily on. This happened to him at the Guinea road on the second round. He ran into a mound of sand and the car went over on its side. A score of willing hands helped set it on its tires and Jardine, being unhurt, resumed his drive. The spill had sprung the right rear wheel and banged the water tank so that it leaked, however, and Jardine had to make a slower pace in the last two rounds.

NATIONAL HORSE SHOW.

Premium List Is Larger Than Ever Before and Likewise Number of the Classes.

The premium list of the twenty-first annual exhibition of the National Horse Show association at Madison Square garden, New York, is out. The dates are November 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18. The premiums aggregate over $37,000. The amount is the largest ever offered in this country.

There will be 137 show ring competitions, larger than ever before. A new class is the $750 Hotel Martinique plate for hackney mares and geldings 15.1 to 15.3. Conformation, action and manners count 50 per cent, pace and style of going 25 per cent, and appointments 25 per cent. The plate is to be won twice for ownership.

Another new class is the "International Prize" of $500 in money and a cup to be continually challenged for pairs of heavy harness horses not under 15.3, to be shown before mail, demi-mail or stanhope phaetons. Another notable special is the Aldie challenge cup for the best American bred hackney or half-bred hackney not under 15 hands to be shown in harness. In this class, action, speed, conformation, manners and soundness are to be considered equally.

Grand Circuit Opening.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 24.—The grand circuit race meeting begins at Oakley park tomorrow and continues until Saturday next. The Horse Review futurity for 2 and 3-year old trotters, purse $10,000, will be the feature event of the card tomorrow. The Ohio stakes for 2:09 trotters, purse $10,000, will be the attraction on Tuesday. More than $40,000 will be distributed in purses during the six days' racing.

CORNELL OPENS WEDNESDAY.

Hamilton Will Be First Opponents for Ithacans This Year.

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 24.—(Special.)—Although the Cornell football candidates have been greatly hampered during the last week by temperature conditions that were termed "sizzling" by the "fleshy" ones, considerable work of a telling nature was accomplished, and the season will open on Wednesday with far better prospects than have been known in years.

Several additions were made to the squad during the week which materially brightened the weight question for the line. If all now in view make good the Sons of Ezra will be represented by the strongest and heaviest line that ever wore the red and white on Percy Field. One of the new heavyweights is Phipps, who stands head and shoulders above Capt. Costello, and tips the scales at 245 pounds. The best part of Phipps is that he is built on good lines and is lively on his feet. At present he is being played at center, but later he may be tried at one of the guard positions.

As yet no indication has been given as to the certainty of any single man to fill any particular position. With every brief lineup numerous changes have been made and shifts have been made from one place to another. Hamilton will be Cornell's first opponents on the gridiron this season, on Wednesday afternoon. By an agreement arranged when the schedule was formed the Ithaca team will use but sixteen players throughout the contest. Last year nearly two elevens were used, as substitutions were frequently made.

WILL BE MATCHED AGAIN.

Willie Fitzgerald and Eddie Hanlon to Be Given Another Try.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Sept. 24.—(Special.)—Willie Fitzgerald and Eddie Hanlon will have another chance at each other. There is almost a certainty that they will be matched to meet again, and the winner will try to get a match with Battling Nelson.

In their last fight Hanlon won the decision on a foul. The two men were very evenly matched, however.

O'Toole and Walsh Draw.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Sept. 24.—(Special.)—Honors were again even between the two crack bantam weights, Jimmy Walsh of Boston, and Tommy O'Toole of this city, when they met for the second time in a few weeks at the National A. C. last night. The distance, six rounds, was just a trifle too long for the clever Bostonian to keep the rushing Tommy at a distance. Walsh scored the only knock down of the setto in the third round, when he sent O'Toole to the mat with a short right hand swing and compelled the Philadelphian to take a count of seven. Jimmy, however, was unable to follow up his advantage. Both drew blood during the bout and Walsh was bleeding freely from the mouth at the finish.

AN ATTRACTIVE BOOKLET.

One That Will Be Especially Appreciated by Non-Residents of Pittsburgh.

We have just received from the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings of this city a copy of their new Banking by Mail booklet. It contains specific instructions for transacting banking business at long distance. The various methods of remitting are illustrated by reproductions of Money Orders, Checks and Drafts received from depositors residing not only in different sections of the United States, but in many foreign countries. It is a book that will be perused with much interest, especially by those residing in the country, where the local banks do not pay any interest or pay a lesser interest than four per cent, the rate paid by the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings. A copy of the booklet will be mailed free by the bank if you will mention The Gazette.

Those employed during the day can make profitable use of their evenings by joining the Night Classes of the Iron City College. They begin Monday, September 25th.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 24.—Fred Clarke's Pittsburgh team today had an easy time with the Columbus Senators, champions of the American association, winning 11 to 3. Kinsella's wildness in the first inning, when he gave three passes, put Pittsburgh behind the start, but Clarke and Ganley swung their bats so well that the Columbus lead was soon eaten up.

About the only fielding features were outs by Ganley in center. He used to play here and friends gave him a diamond pin. Before the game there was a throwing contest and base running. Wagner outthrew Davis, an old Pirate, while Pickering won in running the bases.

Seven thousand people saw the game. The Pittsburgh club got half of the receipts, so the trip was worth making. Score:

CINCINNATI, Sept. 24.—Cincinnati tried out five new men in today's double-header and all gave good accounts of themselves. LARGEST CROWD SEES THE ST. LOUIS-BOSTON GAME

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 24.—St. Louis took a closely contested game from Boston today in the presence of the greatest crowd seen in a St. Louis park this year. The contest was featured by timely hitting by Grady, De Groff and Beckley. Boston scored on errors. Attendance 21,000. Score:

"Buck" Ewing for Manager.

SHAMOKIN, Sept. 24.—(Special.)—A story is afloat that "Buck" Ewing, the old league catcher, will manage Shamokin in the Tri-State league next year. He is married to the daughter of one of the town's prominent residents. Farmer Kulp, one of the owners, being in the west just now, it is impossible to learn how much truth is in the Ewing yarn. Before leaving for the west Kulp said if he had a team in the field he would spare no expense to have it be a winning one. He is a genuine sport and wants to be on the winning side at any cost. There is talk that a stock company will run the team hereafter. Most of the residents think the Kulps are the only ones competent enough to carry the game through the season; that rain and poor audiences would not scare them.

SCENE ON THE HARVARD FIELD

SOFFEL RECALLS EARLY LESSONS

Tells How He and Phil Lewis Had to Work When Starting to Play Fast Ball.

SPENCER IS GOOD CATCHER

"Many young ball players object to being reprimanded when guilty of a bad play," remarks Herman Soffel, late captain of the McKeesport team. "When I was starting to play ball after leaving high school I was with a team that made a trip in the northern part of this state. Phil Lewis, who was also starting at the same time, was on the team, we being the youngest in the bunch. At Punxsutawney I made a play at third base that did not please Ross Grove, the old timer, who was playing the outfield that day. Grove ran into the diamond and grabbed me by the neck and gave me a shaking. Of course I offered resistance, but the whole outfit said Grove was just impressing upon my mind that I should keep my 'noodle' clear. At another town Lewis made a bad play, and Jimmy Johnson kicked him out of the infield, making him play the outfield the rest of the trip. A youngster has to play all the time to get along with a bunch of old timers."

Red Nagle's Kick.

"Red Nagle is the only ball player I ever saw on the independent circuit who could make an umpire change his decisions," remarked Charlie De Moss, the Butler manager. "A few years ago I was captain of the Uniontown team. We were playing at Charleroi, and were being beaten. The umpire made a decision at second that gave the home team two runs. Nagle threw down his glove and gave it a kick. 'Is that your curtain?' yelled Nagle. 'Yes,' replied the umpire, whereupon Nagle made for the gate, yelling out that he would not play until the umpire changed his decision. Nagle ran to the hotel and would not resume playing until the umpire had called the man out, which was done after one half hour's kicking. We finally got Nagle in the game, but Charleroi won the game."

Starr Likes Spencer.

"Ed Spencer is easily the best catcher that has broken into fast company this year," says Charlie Starr of the St. Louis Americans, who is finishing the season with Youngstown. "Spencer has them all beaten when it comes to throwing to bases. He turns them back all right. In practice you don't see the infielders taking in his throws with one hand and laughing like they do with some catchers. He has us all looking when he began to warm up. One day he split Rhody Wales's hand. He is tremendously popular with the Mound City fans. They want to see him work every day. One day he was on the score card to catch, but McAleer sent in another catcher. All the people in the grand stand arose and yelled out 'Spencer, Spencer, send in a good catcher, McAleer.'"

Billy Campbell Satisfied.

"The Tri-State plays fast ball, and we had a very good season despite the fact that we finished fourth instead of in second place as was expected," remarked Billy Campbell, the crack southpaw pitcher of the Harrisburg club. "While it is too early to talk about next year's engagements, nevertheless I expect to return to Harrisburg."

Harry McChesney's Kick.

"I wish I had jumped to the Tri-State when the offers were coming my way," declares Harry McChesney, the local boy who played with Cecil Ferguson on the pitching staff for Milwaukee, to which club he was sent by the Chicago Nationals. "I think the Tri-State has better people to work for than you find in some places in the American association. I told Manager Cantillon not to expect me back next spring unless he hopped along a big increase in salary. I know of other players in the association who are contemplating jumping to the Tri-State, too."

Manager Harkins Confident.

"The Senators are leading the crowd in the race for the pennant in the County league, because they have played good, consistent ball all season," says Bernard Harkins, manager of the Shaners. "We all feel confident that we will beat New Kensington Saturday, and thus ease out the Orioles, who have given us a hard run at all stages of the campaign. The Shaners are the best team in the league and deserve to lead."

WESTMINSTER TO MEET THE WASH.-JEFF. ELEVEN

SCHMIDT NEW MANAGER OF THE PREP ELEVEN

Walter Schmidt has been elected manager of the Allegheny preparatory school eleven. Cellar, Applegate, Mink and Humphries, all of Sewickley, are new students who will try for the team. Worcester of last year's team will return this week.

In the opening college game of Chicago's football schedule at Marshall field Saturday the maroons rolled up a 22 to 0 score against Coach "Deacon" Koehler's Lawrence university eleven. The men from the copper country furnished the maroons with classy early season contest, but Chicago showed vast improvement over its form in the North Division game the week before, and played real football.

Northwestern could make only two touchdowns in the game with the North Division High school team at Evanston Saturday. In the second half the purple was unable to get the ball closer than 10 yards to the high school goal, and the final score was 11 to 0.

At Harvard two elevens have been made up, called for the time being the first and second elevens, although the selections are by no means permanent, but merely represent the men who have so far shown the greatest merit. They are:

Michigan starts practice today on Ferry field. Yost took his hopefuls away from Whitmore Lake Saturday. The following is a roster of the men now out for the team:

Veterans—Adolph Schulte, C. Curtis, Denny Clark, Tom Hammond, Harry Hammond, T. M. Stuart, Walter Graham, Frank Longman, H. J. Weeks and Capt. Norcross.

1904 reserves—J. C. Garrels (end), H. E. Patrick (half), J. Mack Love (tackle), Duncan Pierce (fullback), A. R. Chandler (fullback), W. J. Miller (center and guard), M. P. Rumely (end and half), R. A. Worthington (half) and Walter W. Rhelpschild (fullback).

1904 all-freshmen—Carey (center), F. B. Newton (tackle), C. H. Clement (guard) and W. J. Embs (guard).

Others—A. H. Barlow, the quarterback of the Junior Law championship team; F. W. Wetmore, an ex-halfback on Knox college, and E. D. Kanaja, the bottom man of the Michigan gym team.

There is a growing idea at Ann Arbor that Yost has the job of his life this year to beat Stagg. A recent letter received from Walter Becker, the Michigan sub-quarter of last year, who has been watching Chicago practice, says that Stagg will have the strongest team in the history of the Midway institution this year, and Michigan "must watch out."

The schedule for the 1905 Princeton football team has finally been completed by Manager J. B. Nutt, and consists of 10 games, the contest with Yale being the last, on November 11. The schedule:

October 4—Peddie institute, at Princeton.
October 7—Brooklyn High school, at Princeton.
October 11—Lawrenceville, at Princeton.
October 14—Pratt Institute, at Princeton.
October 18—Hill school, at Pottstown, Pa.
October 21—New York High school, at Princeton.
October 25—St. Paul's school, at Princeton.
October 28—New York Military academy, at Princeton.
November 4—Mercersburg, at Mercersburg.
November 11—Yale, 1905, at New Haven.

Practice at University school has fairly started and the outlook at present does not promise a championship team. Captain Peake and Stewart are the only regular varsity men to return this fall.

Red and Black Supporters Not Satisfied, Despite the Defeat Handed to Bethany.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 24.—Manager John O. Wicks of the Washington and Jefferson college football team has scheduled Westminster college for the local grounds next Wednesday. Kiskiminitas was originally booked for this date. Kiski has not appeared here for some years and the local followers of the game are anxious to see them perform. Westminster should give Wash.-Jeff. a better game than the preparatory school. The New Wilmington school, coached by "Jack" Lang, the old W. and J. tackle, is said to have a good team this year and will come here prepared to make the red and black team work hard.

Coach Pickarski will bend every effort this week to get the team into good shape for the contest next Saturday with Princeton. Princeton opens the season Wednesday with Villa Nova and should not be in very good shape for the contest Saturday. W. and J. having had a longer period of preliminary practice, hopes to make a very creditable showing and to hold the score down low. There must be considerable improvement, however, if this is to be done.

While Washington and Jefferson overwhelmed Bethany on Saturday their work was not good by any means. Rather it should be said that their offensive work was not good for they had no chance to show what they could do on the defense, so seldom did Bethany have the ball. In the second half of the game Wash.-Jeff. resorted to punting twice on almost every first down with the hope that Bethany would get the ball and give them practice in stopping opposing attacks. Bethany, however, fumbled on nearly every occasion and W. and J. could scarcely fail to make the three touchdowns recorded in this half.

Washington and Jefferson students are showing more football spirit this year than ever before. Yesterday they had an enthusiastic football meeting, talked football and elected officers of the athletic association as follows: President, Robert M. Murphy, 1906, Hillsview, vice president, R. R. Richardson, 1907, Beallsville; secretary, Samuel Clark, 1906, New Castle, and treasurer, John Duffey, 1908, Washington. An amendment has been made to the constitution of the athletic association which provides for the election of a football manager of the second Friday before Thanksgiving day. Heretofore the manager has been elected about the middle of the winter and considerable difficulty has been experienced in formulating a schedule on account of other institutions, especially those in the east, having filled up their lists of games.

Enthusiasm in the Princeton game is great, and it is expected that a big following of college students and other rooters will accompany the team on the trip to the east the latter part of the week. The eleven will leave here on Thursday evening and will line up against the U. of P. varsity at Philadelphia on Friday for a practice game, going to Princeton Saturday morning.

ALLEGHENY EXPECTS A SUCCESSFUL ELEVEN

MEADVILLE, PA., Sept. 24.—(Special.)—Allegheny college has bright prospects for a winning team, much better than at this time last year. Coach Rickey is pleased with the outlook. In the daily practice the greatest fight is centered at quarterback, where five men are trying for the position. They are Fish of the track team; Mahaffey of the gym team, and Nelson, Dunbar and Stuart.

For the back field positions the men out so far are Rossiter of the basketball team; Aiken, last year on end, and Stidger, sub on last year's team, who is showing great form, so far. Of the new men, Curtis, Brahmer and Bridges look good, all being big and fast. The last two are trying for fullback, while Curtis is out for left half. For the end positions there are Ginn and Hines, both old men on the team, and also Stockton, sub on end last year. Among the new men are Miller, Pickins and Walker, all fast. Tackles will be picked after by a number of good men, among them being Capt. McRinston and Pineking, old men, and Robinson and Miner, new men. Cole, Wilkinson, Sherwin and Brown will try for the center and guard positions.

The training table will be started tomorrow. The opening game will be played with Alfred university September 29.

CHICAGO OUTPLAYS THE NEW YORK GIANTS

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—The locals won the third straight game from the Champions today. One inning, the fifth, did the business, nine runs scoring on two passes, two steals, a wild pitch, a passed ball, three singles and three doubles. McGinnity retired in favor of Ames after seven runs had been made off him. Wicker was an enigma to the visitors except in two innings. Umpire Emslie fainted on the field during the second inning. The crowd at once invaded the diamond and the police were compelled to use their clubs vigorously before the game could be resumed. Emslie resumed his work after about five minutes. Attendance 24,700. Score:

PROVIDENCE WINS FLAG.

Defeats Rochester and Captures the Eastern League Pennant.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 24.—The Providence baseball team today won the championship of the Eastern league by defeating Rochester, 14 to 3. At the conclusion of the game the members of the championship team were accorded an ovation by the crowd, which numbered 15,000.

The results of Saturday's games tied Providence and Baltimore for first place, each team having won 82 and lost 47 games, a percentage of .636. Baltimore's season closed yesterday, while Providence was scheduled to play Rochester today. If Providence had lost today's game the team would have been given second place, but the victory over Rochester gave Providence a percentage of .638.

OTTERBEIN TIES OHIO STATE IN CLOSE GAME AT SIX

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 24.—(Special.)—When Smith, Otterbein's speedy right half, skirted Ohio State's right end for 85 yards and a touchdown yesterday afternoon in the opening game of the season, Ohio State warriors commenced to sit up and take notice that they were up against a proposition. This was more clearly demonstrated during the remainder of the game and when time was called at the end of the second half the score was 6 to 6. While the showing made by the State team was a disappointment to many who were not aware of Otterbein's strength, the hard battle was not altogether a surprise to Captain Hoyer and Coach Sweetland, since they knew a little of the strength of the United Brethren.

Otterbein always gives Ohio State a hard game and they came to Columbus this year confident as ever of making a showing. A tie game, however, more than satisfied them. The ambition of Otterbein has been to defeat State. The line-up:

Ohio State—6.		Otterbein—6.

TIGHT REINS ON WATER COMPANIES

State Commission Prescribes Rigid Regulations Governing Incorporations.

CHARTERS ARE WITHHELD

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
HARRISBURG, PA., Sept. 24.

The state water supply commission, which will hereafter have control of the public streams in Pennsylvania and the granting of charters to water companies, has prescribed rigid regulations governing the incorporation of such companies. The commission now has under consideration the application of three water companies for charters. All of them will probably be disposed of after the temporary engineers have made their reports at a meeting to be held on October 4.

The appointment of a permanent engineer, the salary of whom is fixed at $2,500 a year by the act creating the commission, may also be made at the next meeting. There are numerous applicants, but the commission believes the place of so great importance that the very best man that can be had should be appointed and has been in no hurry to make a selection.

The corporations whose charter applications are pending are the Antis Creek Water Company, Crawford township, Clinton county; the Nanticoke Power Company, Nanticoke, and the Crystal Pure Water Company, Mill Hall. The commission has approved the application of the Trotter Water Company for the consolidation of several small water companies in Fayette county.

The rules adopted by the commission state that hereafter no charter will be issued to a water company in Pennsylvania until the application is first submitted to and has received the approval of the commission.

Must Give Due Notice.

The notice of an intention to apply for a charter should give the names of at least three incorporators, designate the time when the application will be made for the charter, the law under which it is made and the purpose proposed. Twenty-one days' notice must be given of the intended application, by advertisement in the newspapers, printed in the county or counties where the water is to be supplied and where the water is to be obtained.

The certificate of organization must be on file in the state department during the period of publication and the fee for letters patent and the bonus on the capital stock must accompany the certificate. No certificate will be considered by the commission until the fees, bonus and proof of publication are in the state department. The consolidation and merger of water companies must also be presented to the commission for consideration before the charter.

Protests against the issuing of a charter upon any application must be filed in duplicate with the commission as soon after the first publication of notice as practicable. The protest should briefly set forth the ground of opposition and the interest of the protestants, and must be specific, giving the full and correct name of the company against whose application it is filed and designate the date when the application is advertised to be made. A day for hearing will then be appointed at which time all parties will be heard by counsel or in person.

Want Full Information.

Applicants for charters for water companies must furnish the commission with maps and plans in sufficient detail to show the source of water supply and its application and a written description of the same; also authentic data as to the character and volume of the water to be used, the proposed method of storing and distributing or utilizing the same, and such other information as the commission may deem necessary for an intelligent disposition of the application.

These maps and papers must be verified by affidavit and should accompany the certificate. Any approval by the commission of charters for the supply of water to municipalities or towns is conditioned upon the rules of the state health commission relative to the purity of the water being complied with.

The rules further provide that matters relating to the utilizing, conserving, purifying or distributing the waters of the state may be brought to the attention of the commission by petition, verified by affidavit, which shall fully set forth all the facts and the names of persons, firms or corporations affected thereby; and such persons, firms or corporations will be given an opportunity of being heard relative to the matter alleged.

Capital City Is Being Dressed Up for Old Home Week Celebration.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, Sept. 24.—The capital city is being brightened and cleaned up for Old Home week, which will be celebrated by the people of Harrisburg during the week of October 1-7. About $15,000 has been raised by public subscription for a court of honor in Market square, decorations and to meet other expenses of the celebration.

The purpose of the celebration is to give former Harrisburgers and other visitors an idea of the many municipal improvements that have been made since the inauguration of the Greater Harrisburg planned three years ago. During the week there will be military and civic parades, an amusement carnival, daily sporting contests, concerts by bands and a chorus of 500 voices, etc., winding up with a Saturday night carnival.

The celebration will begin one week from today with special religious services in churches in which all former pastors have been invited to take part. Monday there will be special exercises at Reservoir park, at which there will be speeches by Gen. Horace Porter, late ambassador to France, and a native of Harrisburg; Gov. Pennypacker, Congressman Olmstead and Adjt.-Gen. Stewart.

CAPTURES LARGE HAVANA ORDER

United States Steel Corporation to Furnish Material for Big Electric System.

INITIAL OUTLAY IS $5,000,000

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Sept. 24.

The United States Steel Products Export Company—the foreign end of the United States Steel Corporation—has secured the contract for the steel to be utilized in the construction of the big power house and car sheds to be built in Havana by the Havana Central Railway Company, which concern is to operate the most expensive electric railway system ever initiated by American interests outside of the United States.

The Havana Central Railway Company, which is capitalized at $5,000,000 stock and a similar amount of 5 per cent mortgage bonds, is controlled by the powerful United States and Canadian interests which own the Havana Electric Railway Company, operating the street railway lines in Havana, proper, and of which George F. Greenwood, at one time superintendent of lines in the Pittsburgh district, is general manager and chief engineer.

A Suburban System.

The Havana Central company is to build and operate a network of interurban lines radiating from Havana and covering an extensive territory in the interior of Cuba, which section is now without anything like adequate transportation facilities. The rights originally granted to the Insular Railway Company have been acquired. These rights cover the only railroad entrance into Havana harbor and the business section of the city.

About 125 miles—double track—will be constructed in the first instance, involving an expenditure of nearly $5,000,000. The roads, besides catering for passenger traffic, will carry all kinds of fruits, vegetables and other products from points which under existing circumstances have only the most primitive mode of transportation to the markets of the Cuban capital.

The Power House.

The power house in which current will be generated for the purpose of operating the various lines will have an initial capacity of 7,500-horse power. Three-phase alternating current, 13,000 volts, 25 cycles, will be generated. Turbines are to be installed.

This will be the first instance of such machinery being employed in the West Indies. The transmission lines will parallel the various lines of the railway to the sub-stations, where step-down transformers are to supply low voltage to rotary converters, furnishing 600-volt direct current to trolley wires and feeders.

The rolling stock for passenger service is to be made up of 24 20-ton cars, seating 50 passengers each, and equipped with four motors geared for a speed of 40 miles an hour. The freight service will be handled by 10 40-ton electric locomotives, equipped with four motors geared for a speed of 17 miles an hour, when hauling a 300-ton train. The entire system will have double overhead trolley, both in Havana and on the interurban lines. The high potential transmission lines will be designated for a future potential of 30,000 volts to provide for extensions.

The whole railway will be in operation inside of 12 months, according to present calculations, and portions of the line will be giving service in about six months.

The steel for the buildings, amounting in all to about 5,000 tons, will be shipped from the American Bridge Company's Ambridge shops.

MINES NOT TO CLOSE.

Sensational Report Sent East Is Promptly Denied by Those in a Position to Know.

New York received a report from Pittsburgh late last night that all the operators in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky had agreed to close their mines on April 1 in order to break the power of the United Mine Workers' Union of America.

The matter was referred to Francis L. Robbins, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, the largest bituminous mining corporation in the country, and to Patrick Dolan, president of district No. 1 of the Mine Workers. Mr. Robbins said there was absolutely no truth in the report. No such action had been contemplated by any operator so far as he knew, and he thought he knew. He called attention to the fact that the miners and operators had a contract which does not expire until March 31, 1907.

Mr. Dolan said he had heard nothing of such a plan, and he had been in communication with National President John Mitchell on Saturday. He also referred to the agreement, which has 18 months to run.

To Decide October 15.

The Rev. Dr. R. M. Russell, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, North Highland avenue, who has been offered the presidency of Westminster college, formally notified his congregation of this fact last evening and announced that he had taken the matter under consideration and would declare his decision on October 15.

The Best Short Story of the Month.

Do you read several magazines? What in your opinion is the best short story in any October magazine? The editor of the Literary Digest (no mean authority) thinks "The Strike Breaker," by George Randolph Chester in September McClure's, is the best short story of the month.

There are seven good stories in October McClure's (now on sale)—some better than others, but all good. Do not let the importance of the work of Lincoln Steffens or Miss Tarbell make you forget that McClure's publishes every month several of the best short stories of that month.

MONETARY SITUATION STILL IS WORRYING THE MARKET

Every Likelihood That This Uncertainty Will Prevail for Some Time, With Chances Favoring Higher Rates the World Over.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Practically no change in fundamental conditions developed during the week in Wall street. All authorities agree upon the underlying strength and the highly-promising outlook of the agricultural, industrial and commercial situation. Every ordinary indication of trade and commerce is promising. It is only in relation to the money market that doubt and uncertainty anywhere prevails. It may be truthfully said that despite some developments, then, of a favorable character, such as are embodied in additional gold imports, that the actual monetary situation is still perplexed. It was not substantially modified by the week's happenings.

To ignore the money market problems while admitting the strength and bright promises of the general industrial situation would be the height of folly. And in this connection it may be remarked that an individual cannot be said to be perfectly sound, no matter how robust in appearance, if his heart is disordered. This parallel is not to be taken literally, for there is certainly no evidence that the monetary trouble is a mortal complaint. Quite to the contrary, for it has correctives ready at hand. But since money and credit is the life blood of trade and commerce, it is never wise, until the true situation is determined, to wholly ignore the warning constriction that centers at the heart. Temporary spasms may not develop mortal ills, but it is wise to have the doctor at hand if these effect the circulatory or respiratory organs.

Unquestionably the present money market situation concerns chiefly the holders of securities, be they institutions or individuals who are carrying them on borrowed money or with the funds of depositors, subject to call. The real holders of securities, those who have purchased for cash and are not using them as a basis of inflated credit, have little or nothing to fear from anything from which the present money situation is likely to develop. In fact, barring accident or calamity, upon which no man can reckon, yet the possibility of which no man can ignore, such persons are more likely to benefit than lose from the over-optimism and the overtrading of the speculative element. Similarly with the farmer and the merchant and the manufacturer, it is only if confidence is violently shaken and credit is seriously wounded that he feels to any marked degree disturbances arising from speculative markets.

There seems every likelihood that for some time longer uncertainty will prevail in the money market, with chances favoring higher rates the world over. As to the local market, the present week bids fair to apply the usual test, which always comes when, with largely expanded liabilities and slender reserves, the end of a month with heavy dividends and interest disbursements to make falls due. But in addition to these regular distributions calling for a shifting of accounts during the week falls also some special operations. Thus a 50 per cent installment on subscriptions to the $100,000,000 Pennsylvania convertible bonds becomes payable, entailing a payment of about $50,000,000, falls due, and with this comes, on the last day of the month, September 30, a payment of 37½ per cent on the $50,000,000 of Atchison convertible bonds, which, unless some considerable sum has been anticipated, calls for the transfer of $19,000,000.

No doubt the payment of the $60,000,000 or $70,000,000 of money arranged for as special operations alone during the present week, will be conducted in a manner to create the least possible disturbances to the money market. Still the shift is a very heavy one and sight must not be lost of the fact that other heavy syndicate operations are at hand. Thus, on October 16 falls the final and by far the heaviest payment on account of the subscriptions to the last issue of Japanese 4½ per cent bonds, of which $50,000,000 were placed in this country. This latter transaction entails a payment of about $30,000,000. According to the agreement made when the last Japanese loan was issued, the money will remain here for some time in November.

The Japanese operation is important to bear in mind, as the remittance of the funds to Europe thereafter, should Japan so decide to do so, will offset a considerable proportion of our credits abroad, serve to curtail gold imports and might possibly influence an export of gold, when the financial district least expected it. Possibly, however, now that peace is an actuality, Japan may leave its money here in order to assist the readjustment of its finances, which it is understood abroad is already under consideration.

The Japanese long ago stated that at the end of the war it planned to restore to the country the large sums raised by internal loans and exchequer bills. So, by leaving the funds of its last loan, or their unexpected balances, in London, Berlin and New York, and resorting to some refunding operation, involving, among others, some internal loans, they might make one hand in part wash the other in the way of exterior debt. However, this is a mere matter of conjecture and important chiefly as it enters into calculations as to the future money markets of the world.

Of course this country, with its abounding prosperity and the ability to borrow from abroad, can get gold in abundance. That is not the whole of the problem, however, so far as speculative Wall street is concerned. It rather depends on the price we shall have to pay for a sufficient amount of gold to bolster up our reserves and permit the further expansion of liabilities. If we can command the gold at a cheap price, even though we borrow from the future and pile up debt abroad to be liquidated later on, the money rates may be kept within moderate limitations and sustain for a while longer the high level of speculative security prices. There might be a different story, however, when we sought to strike the balance later on. Instead of the return flow of currency bringing ease it would be owing to Europe to meet its indebtedness. Instead of great staple and merchandise exports commanding gold, their purpose would be that largely of offsetting credits granted by Europe.

This country is thoroughly justified in utilizing its credit to sustain and develop business enterprises. It has made wonderful progress, and it is destined to progress to a point of which history has no counterpart and imagination no limitations, for it is still in the developing stage. But this country has had several experiences in the past arising out of the waste of its substance and the realization of its foreign credit for the sole purpose of sustaining great speculative movements, or to further development to a reckless degree. Such instances as most readily occur to mind are wrapped up in the financial history of 1857, 1873 and 1903. In the periods immediately preceding each one of these fateful years, starting sometimes earlier and continuing longer, sometimes later, but running up to enormous extent in a brief time, the community has misused its credit for speculative purposes or ill considered enterprise.

In the Oil Fields

It was the rapid advance of the credit balance market, rather than field developments, that furnished the sensation of the week past. The two 2-cent advances of the previous week brought out some enthusiasm, but the week just closed was far more encouraging to those who hoped for a still greater appreciation. On Tuesday the eastern grades were advanced 3 and 2 cents respectively, 3 for Pennsylvania and 2 for Ohio and Indiana. The real surprise came on Friday when the quotation posted made credit balance of the grade of Pennsylvania crude 10 cents higher or $1.46, an appreciation of 19 cents a barrel, or nearly 15 per cent in the aggregate within 10 days.

The effect of the higher market is far-reaching for the reason that its influence will be felt by the producers of high grade crude in all sections of the country. The owner of light wells, producing but a few barrels a day, will share proportionately with the large producer in the higher market. For the greater part of this central year the latter has been too low for the owner of small wells to realize much profit, but he has kept them going in a way, hoping a rise would relieve the depression. Now that his hopes have in a measure been realized, these little old "strippers" will be put in better shape. The old derricks will be patched up and new timbers substituted where needed and a general cleaning out will put them in better condition to yield more fluid.

In the lower southwest fields territory not fully developed will receive attention and an increase in development work will follow. Odd locations that were passed over in the early days of developments will be drilled and the deep sand district—should the market continue to advance—will take on new life. For almost a year, save for the work done by a few of the larger companies, the deep-sand territory has been practically deserted. There is a considerable volume of drillable deep territory in Wetzel, Doddridge and Harrison counties. Operators will be induced to take the risk in developing the territory when the market furnishes the incentive. One hears considerable talk of new work to be started in the lower fields. Southeastern Ohio will probably take the lead, as it is principally shallow territory and more speedily developed.

There is room for speculation as to what will be the final result of the efforts exerted in effort for new production. The old wells can be made to do a little better and a vigorous effort in development work will bring an increase in production. The only thing in doubt is whether or not the two combined will furnish enough new production to meet the demand and stop the drain on stocks. If it was spring instead of fall there might be a chance for bringing about such results but with but two months, at most, of good weather before winter sets in, the time is too limited to accomplish much in that direction. A falling off in consumption would help matters, but it is not probable there will be a falling off in the demand for crude of the Pennsylvania grade. The cheaper grades can supply to an extent some of the high-grade crude. The valuable by-products of high-grade crude cannot to any great extent be supplied by the western product, and the demand for them has so greatly increased in the past few years that the supply is no longer equal to the demand. This is true in particular of the more volatile properties contained in crude of the Pennsylvania grade. There has been an enormous increase in the demand for these by-products in the past few years.

Only a few years ago the vaporous fluids had very little value, while at the present time they are sold at a higher price than the refined product used for illuminating purposes. It is more than probable that the demand for these by-products will increase rather than diminish. For generating power and heat for domestic purposes the consumption has been increased wonderfully and promises to grow. In the past it was a problem as to how to find a market for the products considered of little value; now it is a question of how to meet the demand.

The recent advance in the market would have brought a flurry in the speculative market if the old method of speculators ruling the market had prevailed. As it is now there was no intimation on the exchange of speculation. The only noticeable effect was the advance of some of the stock of some of the oil and gas companies. The stock of the Pittsburgh Oil and Gas Company was greatly strengthened by the advance of the credit balance market. Shares advanced from 56 to 65 during the week, a gain of $9 a share. This company has an oil production of about 65,000 barrels a month. With the oil market advancing and the winter approaching, when its gas plants will increase their earning powers, the prospects for future prosperity for the corporation is most encouraging.

In the new development, near Wellsburg, Brook county, two wells were drilled in. The first a 5-barrel pumper and the other good for 50 barrels a day. The chances for a pool of any appreciable area in this territory, as far as development work has progressed, the producing formation consists of a narrow strip running northeast and southwest. The Wick pool, Tyler county, is still furnishing some fair producers and is one of the few pools that is keeping up active development work.

Operations in the lower southwest fields failed to make any important discoveries during the week. The number of completed wells fell below the average and the best producers were not better than fair pumpers. During the week the South Penn Oil Company shot its producer to the northeast of the Yellow Creek field in Calhoun county, and increased its production to 40 barrels a day. There is a very creditable showing of new work starting in the northeast extension and operations in that quarter will show new life.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK IN THE LOCAL MARKETS

Flour Breaks Another Ten Cents and Is Still Weak—Sugar Is Uncertain.

Local markets were not lively at any time last week. The feature of the week was the heavy cut of 15 points in the price of sugar. The steady decline in the flour market was looked forward to and discounted by all dealers. Flour made another 10 cent drop Saturday and fancy patents are now selling at $5.25 and $5.35, with fierce local competition at that figure.

The sugar market has not improved greatly, as a result of the lower price. There is considerable buying but it is to replace sticks which have been depleted by the demand during the canning season and there is nothing of a speculative character about the orders. Retailers are wary and are not stocking up heavily for fear of a further drop. The same is true of the flour market. The Northwestern Miller reports improvement in business at some mills, but the trade on the whole shows no gain over that of several weeks ago.

Green goods, produce and fruit enjoyed a fairly good trade during the week. Prices of fruit were materially reduced, particularly citrous fruits. Deciduous fruits still hold up well. Butter, eggs and cheese are uncertain. Cheese is gaining rapidly and a sharp advance has been made in September product. Butter and eggs are both weak.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts Saturday were: Pennsylvania, 17 cars hay, 5 cars oats, 2 cars feed, 2 cars rye; Baltimore & Ohio, 6 cars hay, 1 car corn; Lake Erie, 4 cars hay, 5 cars oats, 1 car rye, 1 car corn.

The week showed great improvement in the market. Oats are very scarce and prices have advanced considerably. Good hay is scarce and is in demand. Mill feed is receiving more inquiries than for several months, due to the shortage of pasture. There is no decided change in the straw situation.

LONDONERS CHEERFUL OVER MARKET OUTLOOK

Steady Confidence Prevails Despite Conviction That Money Rate Will Advance.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Financial activity in the markets, which was consequent upon the conclusion of peace, has slackened considerably this week, though there is still a cheerful look about almost everything. In every direction there is a steady undercurrent of confidence manifest, which, to say the least, is reassuring to those who have favored the tendency upward.

In another 10 days the last of the holiday stragglers will be back, when the city will open the autumn campaign with seriousness and determination. No gold has been taken from the bank in New York, but the expectation is general that an early advance in the bank rate is unavoidable.

Whether New York does take gold from the bank or not the fact that all the available metal in the open market here and in Australia has been bought up by New York is taken to indicate that the bank is unlikely to receive any assistance from arrivals of gold. Consequently the bank will have to meet, out of its many resources, the demand for South America, Egypt and other quarters, which have no difficulty in obtaining sovereigns from it. It will also have to meet the outflow to the provinces.

There has been a strong demand for money on call loans, now quoted at 2 per cent and over, and for loans for a week as much as 2½ per cent is paid.

The end of the quarter and the requirements and demand of the stock exchange settlement will have to be met, and it is believed there is imminent danger of the withdrawal of the French funds that have been temporarily employed here.

While the rates are a shade easier in the discount market there is no great disposition on the part of the banks to take bills, and for the reason a fair amount of discount business has gone to the Bank of England.

In the foreign market rumors and counter rumors have been prevalent with regard to the Moroccan question, but they have not disturbed the market very much, and prices generally are firm. In Japanese issues there has been good business done, quotations advancing ½ to 1, but in Russians there is scarcely anything moving.

An idea prevails now that peace has been concluded that it would be to Japan's best interests to make some authoritative pronouncement as to what course she intends to adopt with regard to the funding or unification of her national debts.

It is said the present uncertainty on the point is exercising a depressing effect upon her war loans. A fair amount of business has been done in American rails distributed over most of the active stocks, Chesapeake & Ohio and Milwaukee coming in for a good share of attention.

SECURITIES TOO HIGH.

French Financiers Believe Rentes and Bank Stocks Have Reached Unwarrantable Values.

PARIS, Sept. 24.—(Special Cable.)—The bourse has been very irregular, finishing, however, perceptibly higher at the end of the week, notably in French rentes and bank securities. These are believed to have reached an unwarrantably high value, especially considering the probable rise in money rates.

If the discount rates rise in London and Berlin, as seems probable, anticipation of monetary tension, due to prospective Russian and Japanese loans, may result in an upward movement in the stock of those banks which would be concerned in these big issues. There is a downward movement in most other directions. Rio Tintos have been active under anticipation of higher dividend.

"Humpty Dumpty" at the Nixon.

"Humpty Dumpty," Klaw & Erlanger's magnificent Drury Lane spectacle, the third of these big English productions to be presented in this city, will be seen at the Nixon next Monday. Several hundred people are in the production and the stage presents a series of bewildering pictures. Among the beautiful ballets are "The Frolic of the Birds," "The Great Ballet Under the Sea," and "The Four Seasons of Wedlock." "Humpty Dumpty" abounds in bright, sparkling, catchy music, and among the hits are "Kisses," "Mexico," "Lallawanna's Shore," "Sambo and Dinah," "Down the Mulberry Bend," a funny song by Frank Moulan, who gives a very laughable monologue between the verses. The cast and ensemble are the same in every detail as that which characterized the run of "Humpty Dumpty" all last year in the New Amsterdam theater, New York.

The Evening Sessions of the Iron City College begin Monday, September 25th.

PASTOR SCORES EDUCATION ACT

Dr. Partridge Says Parliamentary Law of England Encroaches Upon Religious Liberty.

MANY ARE BEING IMPRISONED

Under the sermon theme of "The Educational Act and Religious Liberty in England," the Rev. Dr. Warren G. Partridge scored the English law from his pulpit in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church yesterday morning. He has just returned from Great Britain and has made two previous visits to that country, during which he inquired closely into the purposes and results of the act. He said in part:

I happened to be in England in 1902 when the famous or rather infamous education act was under discussion. I heard Balfour and others debate the act in parliament. The education act of 1902 has had three years for trial and it has been weighed in the balance of public opinion and has been found wanting. It strikes a terrible blow at religious liberty. It has inaugurated an age of religious persecution. I have a great admiration for England and her wonderful institutions. England has been the champion of human freedom for generations, but in the twentieth century Englishmen are compelled to admit that free Englishmen are persecuted because of their religion.

John Bunyan, a Baptist, was in an earlier day put in Bedford jail for 12 long years because he preached the simple gospel of Christ. The saintly Richard Baxter was put in prison a year and a half for the same cause. And for the same reason George Fox languished in four different jails in England.

The unjust education act is responsible for many Christian men in England today being sent to prison. It is a fact that nearly 200 freemen of England, respectable and God-fearing citizens, have been sentenced to different periods of imprisonment since November, 1902. One of the first "criminals" was an old and feeble man who had served in the ministry of the Primitive Methodist Episcopal church for nearly 40 years. He was a passive resister. He refused to pay the rate for the maintenance and up-keep of sectarian schools, and therefore he was sent to prison. A young Christian Endeavorer was sent to jail for one month because he would not pay 4 shillings and 6 pence for sectarian schools.

The public schools in every country should be absolutely free for all nationalities, and for all creeds. Imprisonment is only one phase of this advancing cause; another is that of the public sale of the furniture, pictures and books of those who refuse to submit. There have been over 2,000 public sales of the goods of passive resisters all over England. Sometimes as many as 150 "lots" of household goods have been offered at one auction. Men earning 15 a week have had the courage to refuse to pay the rate for sectarian education, and when their rate would be only 24 cents they have been mulcted by the officials to the extent of $5. In one case $500 worth of goods were taken by the officials when the rates were only $8.30. In many cases fidelity to conscience has cost the passive resister his trade or his situation. Boycotting goes on in many parts of England against Nonconformists, because they refuse to help support sectarian schools.

A remarkable agitation is now going on in England in favor of free schools and religious liberty. No less than 55,000 summonses have been sent forth by the owners to compel recalcitrant rate-payers to appear before the magistrates and show cause why they will not pay. There are 600 passive resistance leagues in England. There are 28 in London. Among the passive resisters are such famous preachers and leaders as the Revs. Dr. John Clifford, F. B. Meyer, R. J. Campbell of the City temple, Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, Dr. Magris of Oxford, Dr. J. H. Jowett and Dr. Robertson Nicoll.

The school boards were democratic, but the education act gave the control of the public schools to the clerics. Teachers in the public schools in England are subjected to ecclesiastical tests. Thus 16,000 head masterships are closed against all teachers but Anglicans. Here we see a government favoring one sect at the expense of others. The education act places the sectarian schools of Anglicans and Catholics directly upon the rates. Furniture, books, machinery, prayer books, crucifixes, images, light and heat are all paid from the rates and taxes.

FACTS AND FEATURES OF GREAT SUNDAY GAZETTE

Rare Morsels of News from All Parts of World, Served in Appetizing Manner.

All the latest news in politics, racy news from the foreign capitals, a fund of general information on what is taking place in this country, with particular attention to doings in and about Pittsburgh, and a department devoted to professional and amateur sports which cannot be excelled, helped to make yesterday's Gazette great. The news of the day, however, was not all that was interesting in the peerless journal. The Home Journal section teemed with interesting facts and features, and sad indeed was the lot of the reader who was not well supplied with his Sunday literary diversion.

All candidates for state offices have filed certificates of nomination. Democrats of Blair county oppose W. H. Berry and there is disruption in the party ranks. Chairman Taggart sounds a new battle cry for the Democrats of Indiana. Ohio Democrats fear the tariff issue and are already making signs of distress. Democratic State Chairman Hall voices his distrust over the City party of Philadelphia.

M. Witte left Paris on his way to the German emperor. Finnish Constitutionalists announced a program of public meetings despite prohibitory orders from Russia. The government forces in Cuba won a sweeping victory at the polls. The delegates of Norway and Sweden agreed on terms for dissolving the union between the two nations. Russia has started the work of relieving her famine sufferers. Leading Hungarians had an interview with the emperor-king. Francis Joseph, and were displeased with the result. Letters received in Germany stated Russians are ignorant in use of artillery. Hyde abbey is rapidly crumbling away and efforts are being made to save it. Thieves looted Catholic churches in Italy and carried away valuable paintings. Cholera has reached Berlin, a footman dying of the disease in the heart of the city. French authorities fear that Germany has gained secret of submarine boat. English workingmen were made the subject of bitter attack in the Liberty Review.

Yellow fever quarantine may interrupt the southern trip of President Roosevelt. The Republican campaign in Ohio was opened in Bellefontaine by Fairbanks, Foraker, Herrick and Dow. Defeated Democratic candidate for congress wrote an open letter to President McCall of the New York Life. M. Pattison, Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, opened his campaign in Newark. Gov. Pennypacker was the victim of three little girls at Philadelphia and lost a basket of grapes.

Judge Shafer's opinion in Duquesne hotel case awarded the property to the Mellons. Pittsburghers are interested in contest of $50,000,000 independent telephone company to enter New York to compete with the Bell interests. Changes in the official personnel of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie have been held in abeyance pending the completion of the deal for the Little Kanawha. Calvin Beegle, who lived with Mrs. Elphine or Mrs. Beegle for 30 years and who is the father of seven of her children, has repudiated her as his common law wife, producing a court order restraining him from marrying her. Son of a wealthy East End family fainted in criminal court after securing leniency after pleading guilty to robbing a telephone box.

Philadelphia was from Pittsburgh 6 to 0, in a well-played game. W. and J. outclassed Bethany college and won its opening game easily. Cleveland lost two games to the Athletics, the latter increasing their lead for the pennant in the American league race. South Side section threatens to secede from the Allegheny County Bowling league. Seymour still the National league batsman, with Wagner a close second.

OBEYS THE CALL TO PAGAN JAPAN

Surrenders Charge of North Braddock Church to Enter Upon Missionary Work.

PREACHES FAREWELL SERMON

Feeling that he is called to carry the gospel to the mission fields of Japan, the Rev. B. F. Cunningham preached his farewell sermon to the North Braddock United Brethren church last evening. Tomorrow he goes to the Union Theological seminary of the United Brethren church at Dayton, O. Next year he will go to Yale Divinity school to study for the Ph. D. degree.

Mr. Cunningham, who was born in Philadelphia, comes of a long line of clergymen, many of whom have been prominent pulpit orators in New England and the Quaker City. He is but 28 years old, but has been preaching for 10 years. As a boy in college he displayed remarkable oratorical ability, and took degrees from the Otterbein university at Westerville, O.

Mr. Cunningham went to the North Braddock church with the understanding that he should be released from his pastoral relations when he desired to fit himself for the mission field. For years he has turned his thoughts toward mission work. At first Mr. Cunningham determined to go to China, but his physicians warned him that his health would not stand the climate of the district in which he intended to work. Then he decided to go to Japan.

Some time ago Mr. Cunningham told his congregation of his plans and it was quite a shock to his charge. His people expected to have him returned to the charge by the annual conference which ended its sessions last week in Johnstown. His success in the North Braddock charge during the past year has been marked. There have been many accessions to the church by profession of faith. Last winter he conducted revival services for six weeks, and as a result added 40 to the membership. The congregation was so pleased with his work that a week ago yesterday it presented him with a purse of $400 in addition to his salary.

Mr. Cunningham is recognized by presiding elders and bishops of the United Brethren church as one of its brightest and most promising young ministers, and his intention of giving his life to the Japan mission field known to a number of the leading divines of his denomination, has filled them with gratification at the great personal sacrifice of the young preacher, in giving up assured honors at home, where they might be easily attained.

ANIMALS OF ZOO PUT IN WINTER QUARTERS

Summer Season Closed—Buying Elephant to Replace One Poisoned—Concerts Cease.

The approach of winter is seen at Highland zoo. The animals which have been kept out of doors during the summer are being housed in their winter quarters, and the zoo is being cleaned throughout, preparatory to cold weather. Additional quarters inside the zoo are being provided for the reception of many animals which were donated during the past year.

George W. Burke, superintendent of parks, has returned from Cincinnati and other cities, where he has been negotiating for the purchase of a large elephant which will probably soon be added to the zoo. Supt. Tretow of the zoo says that fewer animals died during the past summer than in any year of the zoo's history. The total of deaths was a moose and a lion. The elephant which it is proposed to buy for the zoo is to replace one which died a couple of years ago from poisoning.

Director Bigelow claims that an elephant, a hippopotamus and a number of other valuable animals of the collection were poisoned by a miscreant who had a grievance against the city. The city authorities expect to pay about $1,000 or $2,000 for an elephant.

Both Highland and Schenley parks were well patronized yesterday. As usual the visitors to the zoo outnumbered those at Schenley, but they are steadily increasing at the Phipps conservatories in Schenley park as the weather grows cooler. Immense crowds are expected with the opening of the "mum" show on Sunday, October 29.

The last concerts of the season were given at the trolley parks yesterday, and attracted large crowds. The bills offered included bands, vocalists, quartets and other entertainers. At Calhoun park the Homestead Library band played two concerts and were assisted by the Lone Star quartet and Weir, the magician.

The Carnegie Concert band and the New York Comedy quartet gave the farewell concerts at Oakwood. "Husky Hans," written by Bandmaster Hartz, having for his subject Hans Wagner, the ball player, was enthusiastically applauded. Braddock Library band played to two large audiences at Southern. The solos of Herr Neuendorf, formerly imperial trumpeter to the kaiser, and Raferrole Pancaro, were among the features of the band programs. Lew Dockstaders hit, "Everybody Works But Father," caught the crowd.

OBSERVE RALLY DAY.

Special Exercises Are Held in Many Sunday Schools.

Rally day services were conducted yesterday in Sunday schools of various denominations throughout the county. In the Sixth United Presbyterian church, North Highland avenue, buttons were distributed among the children bearing the words "Admit—Commit—Submit—Transit." Addresses defining these terms were made by Newton B. Webb, Samuel Young, John E. Shaw and H. W. McKee. Special music was a feature.

Interesting rally day services were also conducted in the Sunday schools of the Mt. Washington Methodist Protestant church and Reformed Church of the Ascension, Allegheny, as well as many others.

FOURTEEN YEARS IN A PASTORATE

Shadyside United Presbyterian Church Celebrates Dr. McClurkin's Anniversary.

RESUME OF RESULTS ATTAINED

Fourteen years' work in the pastorate of the Shadyside United Presbyterian church was celebrated by the Rev. John Knox McClurkin, D. D., and his congregation yesterday. Dr. McClurkin took for his text Gal. iii:1, "Then fourteen years after," and said:

In the first place these words tell us of 14 wonderful years of missionary service on the part of the great apostle; years momentous in the history of the world, strategic in the movements of the kingdom.

The text takes us from the gates of Damascus, where Paul found a new life and a new service, through the quietness of the desert of Arabia, to his old home in Tarsus, to the wonderful revival in Antioch, where the name Christian began, through the thrilling scenes of the first great missionary journey, bringing the apostle at last into the presence of the mother church in Jerusalem.

In the second place, the text reminds us of peculiar experiences and special blessings that met the apostle at the close of this period of 14 years of service. We learn that at this period in the apostle's life he was seeking above all, to know God's mind and will concerning his labors. For this purpose he goes up to Jerusalem. We learn, too, that at this time he made grateful mention of the wonderful blessings with which God had crowned his work, the work of 14 years. At this time, also, he met his fellow laborers in brotherly friendship. He was cheered with cordial greetings from his brethren and received from them the right hand of fellowship. He was, too, at this time quite ready to recognize financial obligations and to take up and carry forward earnestly the work of gathering assistance for the poor and persecuted saints in Jerusalem. Reinforced and recommissioned, he makes the close of his 14 years of service simply a starting point for longer missionary journeys, for wider fields of service and for greater usefulness.

The Rev. Dr. John Knox McClurkin.

In the third place, this text naturally suggests to us on this, our fourteenth anniversary, these five lessons:

First—In all our work are we seeking, first of all, to do God's will? Anniversaries are often used for counting up results according to human calculations. But behind all outward results is the question that was first in the mind of the apostle—Have I done God's will? In the pulpit has His will been proclaimed? In sorrow have I submitted to His will humbly? In joy have I remembered God's will? Whatever success or failure has followed our work are we able to look up to God today and say, "I have been striving to do Thy will."

Second—Let us not forget gratefully to recount the blessings of another year. The personnel of our working force includes the Rev. Howard Boyd, our congregational missionary in Egypt; Miss Lillian McConnell, our missionary in India; the Rev. Ernest Orr and Mr. J. W. Springer, our home missionary assistants. Twelve organizations are at work in the congregation. During this past year our contributions, made through the regular congregational and denominational channels, amounted to $24,961, an average per member of more than $22. During the 14 years of my pastorate 1,160 members have been received into the fellowship of the congregation. One hundred and fifty-six have gone home to God, been certified to other places of worship and fields of service, or have been dropped from the roll. The present membership is 775.

Third—Let us ever in this church be ready to extend the right hand of fellowship. Let us give the stranger a cordial greeting, not as a kind of mortgage upon him for membership, but in recognition of the abiding fact that we are all brethren in the one great family.

Fourth—Let us, like the great apostle, recognize the claim of the needy upon our earthly treasure. Let us try to realize the urgency of God's call for our gifts as that call comes to us from the most distant parts of earth. Let us try to make our giving not a matter of comparison with others, but a deep personal question to be settled between our own souls and God. Let us give until we have entered into the real joy of giving.

Fifth—Let us, like the great missionary Paul, make the close our our 14 years of work to extend the starting point for wider effort and greater usefulness. Five beloved members have ceased during this year from their earthly labors—Mrs. Julia Huntingdon, Mrs. Isabella Quinn, James A. Smeich, Mrs. Caroline Wright, Miss Eliza Vance. Let us work, each one, during the coming year remembering that it might be our last year.

MONEY SHOULD BE CIRCULATED

The Rev. Dr. E. H. Ward Says Wise Expenditures Give It Real Value and Proper Use.

WHAT CAPITAL OWES LABOR

"The Right Use of Money" was the sermon theme of the Rev. Dr. E. H. Ward in the pulpit of St. Peter's Episcopal church yesterday afternoon, it being the third sermon in a series on "Money and Its Perils." Telling of the dangerous uses of money, Dr. Ward said in part:

So great are these dangers that some men, like Francis of Assisi, have renounced it and forbidden their followers to own a coin. But it is the act of a coward to leave a place or give up a thing because of its danger. Fire, steam and electricity are dangerous, but when mastered they become man's most valuable servants. And so with money. Money is but a symbol of work performed, of wealth realized, and to be of real value it must be kept in circulation by wise expenditure. It carries with it obligations to society, for it is not the product of any one man's labor. This is recognized in the word "commonwealth," which is a synonym for the word "state." Fortunes are the product of capital and labor, and capital has its duties and responsibilities to labor.

But the laborer has been paid for his labor at the market value and he has no further claim upon capital. And the rich man asks: "Can I not do what I will with mine own?"

Legally, yes. Over his property the law gives him full sway and no one can call him to account for the use of it. But the political economist tells us that there has not been a fair division of profits. The productive power of a workingman is $600 per year, and it Adams had begun laying away his $600 every year he would have $2,800,000 today. If he were to continue this for a million years he would only have $600,000,000, a sum less than that possessed by more than one American citizen today. These enormous fortunes have been accumulated in less than 40 years. A man who today is possessed of $500,000,000 has the total earnings of more than 20,000 men for 40 years. I am not questioning the right to do this, but every reasonable man must admit that we have not yet reached an ideal economic condition.

Legally a man may spend the earnings of 20,000 men as he sees fit. But the Christian takes a far higher view. He does not regard himself a proprietor, but a steward. All he holds he holds in trust for his Master. According to the teachings of Jesus all money is consecrated to God and no Christian may accept or spend his money in ways of which the Master would not approve.

He has laid down great principles that may guide us. First, no man may spend his money in selfish luxury. The rich fool had no thought for others and would pass his wealth in eating, drinking and carousing, but the messenger of death calls him away from selfish pleasures. He fared sumptuously while Lazarus, sick and hungry, lay neglected at the gates. The veil was lifted from the unseen world and this man who had money only for selfish gratification was tormented in the flames of hell.

Money spent in the service of men is well used. The capital in our mills and factories and in the various channels of legitimate commerce meets this condition, because it is ministering to human needs and comforts.

By the right use of money we make it our friend, and what a priceless treasure is a true friend? How beautiful the thought that every penny we give to God for the extension of His kingdom or the relief of our fellow becomes a friend that we send before us to the eternal world.

MANY TRAVELING MEN AMONG THE AUDIENCE

The Rev. S. Edward Young Preaches Strong Sermon to Them of Particular Aptitude.

The Rev. S. Edward Young had many traveling men present at the services last evening in the Second Presbyterian church. The sermon was prepared particularly for them, the Rev. Young taking for his text St. John 13:15: "I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done," He said:

What is a yard? Only that which is precisely as long as a particular bronze bar preserved in London and conceded by all scientists to be 36 inches in length. What is a pound? Whatever in this world—for weight varies according to the world you are in—exactly balances that piece of platinum kept in London and agreed by all scientists to weight just 16 ounces. What is a man? A biped? Not necessarily. Some of the noblest men are short one leg. An animal of a specified form or weight? No; a hunchback may be an intellectual and moral king, and an Apollo Belvedere a mediocre wit or a moral leper. A creature of such and such lineage, education or wealth? Not always. The worst scalawag alive is apt to begin by telling you how illustriously he is connected.

Universal consent amongst civilized people answers the question: What is a man, the best sort of man? by saying "Anybody who is like Jesus Christ, the more like Him, the more of a man." All that humanity requires by way of credentials from any professing Christian is, not your certificate of church membership or confirmation or your subscription to any creed; simply a daily life corresponding in fair measure to the earthly life of the Man of Galilee. He is the sample; you are to be the goods matching that sample.

No matter which wholesale establishment should commence sending its agents out to show one class of articles to the purchasers and start to deliver to those some purchasers a grossly inferior grade of goods, that establishment must go under. Similarly our fellowmen will soon be done with, will soon do away with, a religion after this fashion. The village storekeeper calls down to his clerk: "John, have you marked that cheap coffee 'Genuine Java?'" "Yes." "Have you labeled that shoddy cloth 'All wool?'" "Yes." "Have you put some more sand in the sugar?" "Yes." "All right, John, come to prayers."

This world will become Christian fast as we professing Christians exhibit every day and everywhere the goods that match the sample. Christ is our sample for the home sphere, the social sphere, the religious sphere. Take our four evenings this week and read one gospel through each evening, jotting down His samples of living in each of these spheres, and by Friday morning you will be possessed of a first rate workable pattern for ordinary Christian living in all the ordinary duties and relationships. People will like the goods and want more and thus you shall become a forceful evangelist.

The last park service of 1905 was held in West park, Allegheny, at 6:15 last evening, this being the 18th held in this park and season on consecutive Sunday evenings.

Services Are Resumed.

Services were resumed in the First Presbyterian church, Sixth avenue, yesterday after a lapse of nearly two months. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, who has just returned from abroad, occupied the pulpit morning and evening. The special Sunday afternoon service, which was introduced early in the summer, will be resumed next month.

HARVEST HOME FESTIVAL GLORIFIES HONEST TOIL

Pastor Voss Considers the Significance of Such Occasion for Residents of Cities.

"What significance has the Harvest Home festival for those residing in our cities?" This question was considered by the Rev. C. A. Voss, pastor of the Smithfield Street German Evangelical Protestant church, in his sermon last evening. After referring to the custom of past generations to set aside a certain Sunday after the completion of the harvest work to recall the manifold blessings of the heavenly Father and to express to Him in word and deed the heart's deepest gratitude, he said:

Only a few decades have passed since every inhabitant of our nation took an active interest in the result of the harvest. The prosperity of the farmer meant increased business activity in the city, while poor crops indicated dull trade and consequent lack of employment for those dwelling in our cities.

The great discoveries and the marvelous inventions of recent years have modified this condition of affairs materially. No longer are we limited to the immediate neighborhood for our daily bread—our food supplies now come from every portion of the known world. The crops in the surrounding farming districts may be utter failures and still in no respect affect the prosperity and well-being of the city population. But does this mean that we have lost interest in the life and work of almost half of our fellow-men? Can we no longer fully appreciate the deep significance of this rural festival?

A slight change of view point will teach us that this festival in reality stands for a glorification of all honest toil, as well as an expression of gratitude for the divine bounty which has made successful work possible. Success in all fields of labor is dependent upon forces outside of ourselves. National peace and harmonious relations between labor and capital are conditions as important in our urban life as heat and cold, frost and rain are to the farmer. For the favorable opportunities to earn our daily bread as they were offered us in our varied spheres of labor let us be truly grateful. What we need more, however, than the fruits of the field or the achievements of daily toil is the gift of the Divine love that impels us to consecrate our highest energy to the uplifting of humanity, thus glorifying our Father in heaven.
